Reader Offers Ltd Grand Voyage Winner

As part of the Official 2017 Grand Voyage Promotion, Reader Offers Ltd and Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines were giving away one room on board Boudicca's 77 night South American Grand Voyage. We are delighted to announce that the winner of this exceptional cruise to Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Cuba and beyond was Mr Derek Carter.

Commenting on his win, Mr Carter said that "good things come in threes - two weeks ago I won £3 on the lotto, one week ago I won a bottle of wine in a raffle, but learning of my Grand Voyage win was the best news by far. I'd like to give many thanks to all at Reader Offers for the prize."

GET READY TO JET, SET, SAIL WITH CELEBRITY CRUISES®

Poppy Ellis, Commercial Account Manager recently experienced the VIP service of award-winning Celebrity Cruises® Jet, Set, Sail.

I've always wondered what it might be like to jet-set around the world like a Celebrity! So when I was offered the opportunity to travel to Athens courtesy of Celebrity Cruises® from their Private Jet Terminal at London Stansted aboard a private jet – I jumped at the chance.

The morning finally arrived and our small group travelled to Stansted's 'In-Flight Jet Centre', which is completely separate from the main terminal. As we arrived we followed the signs to the luggage drop area where porters assisted us by whisking our luggage from the vehicle to the aircraft.

Car parking is always a concern when flying: the cost for the duration of your holiday, the distance from the main terminal building and the time it takes to arrive. This isn't a problem with Jet, Set, Sail – car parking is free for the length of your cruise and the dedicated car park (exclusively for Celebrity guests) is less than 100 metres from the terminal building. After taking a stress-free stroll into the terminal, I was completely wowed by what I saw inside. The lounge itself is spacious, modern and sleek – and there are many different areas for you to relax in. You won't have any of the usual pre-flight stresses, with complimentary refreshments and pastries being served. The sofas are plush and ever so comfortable; it's the perfect way to spend time before boarding the plane. There's even an outside area with rattan furniture for those who wish to use it – and enjoy the British summer while it lasts.

We then headed to the check-in area where helpful and welcoming staff were on hand to help with the process. Without a queue in sight, this was a stress-free and speedy experience and before I knew it, we were walking the short two minute distance to the jet and boarding for our flight to Athens.

Once we had boarded and taken our seats, I was able to enjoy the extra leg-room and the seats, of course, were leather too – just for that extra touch of luxury.

On the flight, we were able to enjoy a number of added benefits, exclusive to this VIP Celebrity package. A complimentary two-course breakfast or lunch with beverage service, as well as a luggage allowance of up to 23kg!

With touches of luxury beginning much closer to home, this has to be one of the most ideal ways to begin a holiday, allowing you to relax as soon as you arrive at the airport.

After enjoying such modern luxury in the sumptuous lounge and sleek jet, I couldn't wait to see what my experience on board Celebrity Equinox™ would hold for me!

MONACO GRAND PRIX

with Reader Offers...

The Monaco Grand Prix: one of the most famous and important sporting events in the world and undoubtedly on the tick list for sports' fans and travellers. Many people dream of sitting in the stands overlooking the narrow and winding track that is known as an exceptional location of glamour and prestige. Every year, Reader Offers make this dream a reality.

Positioned in Nice was Fred. Olsen's Black Watch, which had over 200 of our guests on board; while along the coast in Monaco was Silversea's Silver Spirit, where we had 60 guests, who had two days to explore the Principality at their leisure whilst gearing up for the race.

On board Black Watch, accompanying our guests were two of our ambassador couples – John and Liz, and Chris and Joan. Our team did a great job of building up the excitement for our guests as the Grand Prix day approached. John had even managed to get hold of a unique piece of Lewis Hamilton memorabilia (a signed photo of his car in race position from a previous year) and offering out raffle tickets to be in with a chance of winning this 'mystery' prize attracted a great crowd to the ambassador cocktail party. The atmosphere was electric, as were our ambassadors in their lime green Grand Prix t-shirts.

The famous t-shirts made their main debut on race day when our grand operation came into play. Eleven members of our office and tour ambassador team flew out to ensure the smooth running of the day for our guests. Monaco is a twisty maze at the best of times, but on race day with road closures, blockaded areas and tens of thousands of people, getting lost is a strong possibility.

The team assisted and guided our guests past Monaco's iconic landmarks, towards the fan zone and onwards to their allocated seats in the various stands. Normally bright sunny skies assist us on this day; however this year, the heavens opened for three whole hours leading up to the start of race.

The stands are uncovered and umbrellas not allowed; so with ponchos out and carrier bags on seats, everyone took their place. For spectators and drivers alike, the race got off to a soggy start, but the Riviera sun decided to grace us with its presence halfway through.

The atmosphere in the stands was exhilarating as the cars roared past and the giant screens showed the action on other parts of the track. Everywhere you looked, there were people viewing from any available rooftop, balcony and hillside. Most of our guests were seated in the T stand, opposite the pits so nobody missed out on the action as the cars pulled in and whizzed away.

Others enjoyed the race from the B stand, overlooking casino square which gives a great view of the track; while the K stand towers over the marina so the million dollar yachts come into view along with the race cars.

Our lime green team were back in position before the end of the race and the sea of people came towards us from all directions.

To enhance our visibility further, our ROL flags were extended and we were spotted by our guests as they made their way back to their coach or ship.

Many were high-fiving us as they passed, commenting on our excellent organisation. A few guests told us they were having a competition between themselves, how many green t-shirts can they spot on the way down!

It was a real pleasure for us to hear such wonderful comments and to know that we had made the day even better for our guests, by enabling them to get to and from the race area worry-free.

We were even approached by many guests travelling independently as well as countless foreign visitors who also asked for our help.

Many were impressed and said that we seemed to be the only visible people on the routes to the stands and that we were so friendly, helpful and jolly.

Back on board Black Watch, the cruise continued, as did the excitement about the Grand Prix. Our Ambassadors were inundated with conversation, compliments and stories from the big day. A great time was had by all and the buzz remained until the end of the cruise. Many a glass was raised to Lewis on his 44th Grand Prix win!

So the iconic sporting event is over for another year. As everyone heads home to regale friends and relatives about the fantastic time they had, we at Reader Offers look forward to assisting a new group of guests next year. Same time, same place – roll on the 75th Monaco Grand Prix.

VOYAGE HIGHLIGHTS

HAVANA, CUBA

CALLAO, PERU

The city's friendly people, important historical sites, quality museums and a variety of dining and entertainment establishments make Lima a very interesting place to visit. South of the city, although washed by cool South Pacific waters, the long white beaches stretch away in an uninterrupted string

Visit two idyllic islands – Tahiti and Bora Bora – and discover paradise as you explore dramatic landscapes and beautiful beaches. Tahiti is the heart of French Polynesia and is a gem with its waterfall-laden, shadowy mountains and black-sand beaches; while Bora Bora lies 150 miles northwest in the centre of a world-famous multi-coloured lagoon

YANGON, MYANMAR

Maritime Memories

with Nigel Lingard
(Non-Executive Director, Reader Offers Ltd)

AN ANNUAL CRUISE INDUSTRY EVENT FOR WHICH I AM PROUD TO SERVE AS CHAIRMAN IS THE CRUISE
EUROPE PORTS CONFERENCE,
WHEN REPRESENTATIVES
FROM ABOUT 100 NORTH-WEST EUROPEAN PORTS
GET TOGETHER WITH CRUISE LINE DELEGATES TO DISCUSS ISSUES OF COMMON INTEREST.

The key to mutual success is of course to continually improve the shore-side experience for cruise passengers – and I am sure that the regular travellers amongst you will have seen how new terminals, better facilities and welcoming hosts are now the norm rather than the exception.

This year's event was held in Dublin; a city undergoing such a transformation that it is hard to imagine that they were recently in deep recession. On the north bank of the Liffey, where I can recall little Black Prince mooring on her first ever Around Britain cruise, new developments are changing the skyline, whilst the building of a whole new tram network will make travel within the city a real joy. Celebrity's Constellation was in port when we visited, with mainly American guests heartily enjoying their Guinness Storehouse tour! The port's management are planning for a new cruise terminal really close to the city centre in a traditional dock area, so calls at this wonderfully friendly city should become ever more frequent.

All of north-west Europe is benefiting from the growth of new cruise itineraries, with even quite remote or tiny harbours tapping into the repeat customers' demands for more unusual calls. Seasonality is changing too, with an increasing number of year-round programmes targeting those of us who are less fussed about seeking sunshine and happy to try out new travel ideas. A great example of this has been the development of winter voyages way up to the Northern Lights. (See the Cruise & Maritime Voyages Land of the Northern Lights cruises on page 11).

THE KEY TO
IS OF COURSE TO CONTINUALLY
EXPERIENCE
PASSENGERS

Much discussion at the ports' conference centres around the shore excursion opportunities. The entry to the market of independent operators selling shore tours online has galvanised the cruise lines into revitalising their own offerings. Whilst there is still a place for the classic guided coach tour, nowadays we are seeing far more sporting and active options, plus more glamorous adventures by balloon, helicopter or submarine!

Some of the luxury cruise vessels now extend their "all-inclusive" concept to build in complimentary tours at each port of call, whilst also offering concierge-style services to tailor specific individual trips. To be truly spoilt what could be better than exploring the world whilst being pampered by the Regent Seven Seas Cruise team? (See pages 48 & 49).

For now we'll just keep dreaming!

Nigel.

The Pingxi Lantern Festival

While Chinese New Year is the largest and well-known Asian celebration, one of the more subtle and beguiling days in the Chinese calendar is the annual Sky Lantern Festival. In a blaze of luminous glory, 100,000 to 200,000 hot air balloons emblazon a full moonlit sky. Although the holiday is celebrated all across Asia, nowhere in the world is it more recognised than Pingxi, a remote mountain town an hour away from Taipei.

ANCIENT HISTORY & OLD STREET

According to the elders of Pingxi, the Sky Lantern Festival originated in the Xing Dynasty, more than 2,000 years ago. At that time, bands of outlaws frequently raided the lowland villages, forcing residents to seek refuge in the lush, verdant mountains. Village watchmen used "fire balloons" as signals to inform the refugees that their houses were safe once again. When those hiding in the hills saw the celestial flares, they knew it was time to go home.

WATCHING DREAMS TAKE FLIGHT

The main activity is to buy a lantern, scribble your desires and ambitions on it, then send it into the heavens. The lanterns are made out of oiled rice paper, sheepskin, bamboo filaments, silk, or satin outfitted with a large candle at the bottom. As the lamps heat up, they take flight and linger in the air for as long as the flame still flickers.

INDEPENDENCE DAY 2017

Boston is where the fight for American liberty began so an overnight stay on board on 4th July allows you to join in with its very special celebrations. Witness the spectacular firework displays from the Esplanade along the banks of the Charles River and revel in the music of the Boston Pops Orchestra. The celebrations are often capped off by a rendition of Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture", which also features real cannons and the ringing of local church bells. Boston Harborfest is the largest Independence Day celebration and is a five-day event. You'll be able to enjoy some of the entertainment on offer, including historical re-enactments, music, harbour cruises, walking tours and Chowderfest! Alternatively, walk along the harbour, where you can visit the site of the USS Constitution and its museum in the Charlestown Navy Yard.

Bucket List Experiences

IN THIS EDITION OF BLUE HORIZONS

Pingxi Lantern Festival

Rural mountain town Pingxi is an unlikely source of wonder - but every year the sky is set ablaze by thousands of Chinese lanterns ascending through the sky. According to the elders of Pingxi, the festival originated in the Xing Dynasty whereby "fire balloons" were released as a signal to inform refugees that their homes were safe once again from imposing outlaws. In more recent years, Taiwan adopted the festival as a means of prayer to the gods - the lanterns were inscribed with wishes for the forthcoming year and released to the heavens. Thus, the Pingxi Lantern Festival that we know today was born. The sight of thousands of lanterns rising majestically in the air is almost ethereal and certainly breathtaking.

A spectacular fireworks display dominates the Esplanade along the banks of the Charles River and the Boston Pops Orchestra provides the soundtrack for your partying, before real cannons and church bells add the final flourish to the celebrations. THE GUILTY 12

As soon as I saw Guilty 12 on the cocktail menu I knew what my daughter would be ordering for pre-dinner drinks during our night aboard the Orient Express.

For most people, a trip on this celebrated train is all about stepping back in time to the opulent days of black ties and feather boas. Ilana, on the other hand, had murder on her mind.

You don't have to be an Agatha Christie fan to have heard of her famous novel Murder on the Orient Express. For those who don't know the story, I'm saying nothing – although you don't have to be Einstein to realise the drink's name is a bit of a clue.

I'd love to tell you what's in it, but it is a secret concoction, created by Walter, the train's Italian barman, as a salute to the Queen of Crime. And even though he came over to congratulate Ilana on her choice of drink (admitting he was a bit biased!), he refused to reveal its contents, other than to say it is based on Champagne and has drops of raki from Turkey and cherry liqueur from Switzerland, representing some of the countries the train passes through.

This was my second journey on the Venice Simplon-Orient Express – a true once-in-a-lifetime experience that is so good you just have to do it again. The first time I travelled from Venice to Prague; this time I took the classic route, from London's Victoria Station to Venice.

So there we were at Victoria at 10am, feeling a little underdressed as we checked in for the first part of the journey – Belmond's British Pullman train to Folkestone. There were gents in straw boaters and striped trousers, ladies in boas and flapper dresses. You don't have to dress straight out of the Twenties of course, but those of us in smart casual togs had definitely erred on the side of smart. This is not a trip for those who like to dress down.

By 11am we had taken our seats in Audrey, our carriage on Belmond's British Pullman train, which started life on New Year's Day 1933 as a first-class kitchen car for the Southern Belle service; soon after we pulled out of Victoria Station and the eating and drinking marathon started.

Even if you don't go with the Twenties gear, one very important item to pack is a healthy appetite. On the way to Folkestone, Mitch, our steward, served us a slap-up brunch. A couple of Bellinis (Prosecco with peach purée), followed by pastries, hot rolls, fruit, scrambled egg and ham, juice, tea and coffee.

On the coach journey through the Channel Tunnel, we were served British sparkling wine; once on board the Orient Express, we drank cocktails and wine, indulged in a three-course dinner, munched our way through breakfast, then headed back to the dining car for a three-course lunch and more wine before we crossed the causeway and pulled into Venice Station.

I see Reader Offers has a special 16-night holiday next April that combines the Venice Simplon-Orient-Express with three nights in Venice and a cruise on Silversea's Silver Wind from Venice to Civitavecchia. If that appeals, may I suggest a crash diet before you go so you can indulge on the train and ship without feeling too guilty!

The British Pullman is lovely but the Orient Express is magical. Arnaud, our steward, was standing on the platform outside our carriage to greet us and show us to our cabins. These are mostly for two people but our carriage had singles. These have a sofa, a sink that converted into a table by day and an interconnecting door. While we were at dinner, Arnaud converted the sofa into beds; next morning before he served breakfast in the cabin – a tray of fruit, pastries, juice and tea or coffee – he deftly changed them back into their daytime configuration.

Each car is decorated in beautiful polished wood adorned with intricate marquetry; each also has its own story to tell. Sleeping Car 3544 went from transporting the rich and famous around Europe to being used as a brothel in wartime. King Carol escaped Romania in Sleeping Car 3425. To Ilana's delight, we were in Sleeping Car 3309, which was marooned in a snowdrift for 10 days in 1929. More echoes of Murder on the Orient Express. All we needed was Hercule Poirot and a body!

Cabins are not ensuite, and there is only that sink for washing, but don't let that put you off as you are only on board for a night and the trade off for not having a shower is spectacular views of the countryside as you journey through France, Switzerland and Italy.

I woke at 7am on day two of the journey during a stop in Basel Station (the engine and driver are changed each time the train crosses borders); at 8.40am I spotted snow-capped mountains and soon after we were crossing the Gotthard Pass in Switzerland. A picture-postcard moment that went on all morning, with mountains, deep blue lakes, gushing rivers, tumbling waterfalls and chalets adorned with flowers. We had dinner in Paris, skirted around Lake Lugano during a midday lunch and afternoon tea while passing Verona.

A day and a half of pure indulgence that is enough to turn anyone into a train spotter!

- Wed 25 - Fri 27 Peninsula Valdez
Here you can experience some of the largest marine animals in their natural environment
- Sat 28 - Mon 30 Falkland Islands (possible landing sites New Island, Carcass Island, Saunders Island, West Point Island and Stanley)
The islands have a unique ecosystem of about 70 different sub-Antarctic animal and bird species. The black-browed albatross, Striated Caracara, Elephant seal, sea lion and five different species of penguin including King penguin are just a few of them. There are also about 347 wild plant species in the area. The landscape is majestic, with cliffs and needle-like stones covered in green grass. Enjoy a chance to visit the area around North-West Falkland, home to fascinating landscapes and wildlife, before arriving in Stanley, the islands' capital, which makes a wonderful starting point for various excursions in the area. You can choose to take an optional excursion* or explore the town on your own

NOVEMBER 2017

- Wed 1 - Sat 4 Antarctica (possible landing sites Half Moon Island, Yankee Harbour, Neko Harbour, Station Brown, Cuverville Island)
Scenic cruising in Antarctica will offer a range of possible landings with many photographic opportunities of wildlife posed against scenic backgrounds, Antarctic highlights and impressive glaciers and beautiful icebergs of all shapes and sizes. Take in the landscape framed by mountains and calving glaciers, and teeming with Gentoo penguins, Leopard seals, and Minke whales
- Sun 5 Cruising Drake Passage
The Drake Passage connects the southern Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. Here the warm water from the north meets the cold, less salty water from the south. This makes the ocean particularly rich in nutrients and is the basis of the unique marine life here
- Mon 6 Cape Horn & Cruising Chilean Fjords
Before continuing through the fabled waters of Patagonia, you will sail in one of the world's most remote, undisturbed and beautiful places. Near the southern tip of Chile the southern Andes mountains plunge into the icy water and leave a region which is so wild and remote that it seems almost undisturbed. In these Chilean fjords, the ice has scoured its way between the mountains, leaving isolated islands and hidden bays. If the weather permits, you will anchor off Cape Horn, where you will be able to leave the ship to explore this deserted and yet romantic piece of land at the end of the world
- Tue 7 Cruising Chilean Fjords
As you set course for Punta Arenas, sail through some of the wildest and most impressive landscapes anywhere on earth. The Chilean fjords are deep with high mountains and glaciers calving into the sea. Enjoy the amazing views from deck, or come ashore to explore the area like Darwin did more than 180 years ago
- Wed 8 Punta Arenas/Santiago, Chile
Disembark and transfer to the airport for your flight to Santiago. Upon arrival, transfer to a hotel* for your overnight stay
- Thu 9 Santiago, Chile

Although Carnival is celebrated in towns and villages throughout Brazil and other Catholic countries, Rio de Janeiro has long been regarded as the Carnival Capital of the World. The Rio Carnival is not only the biggest Carnival, it is also the benchmark which against every other carnival is compared, and one of the most interesting artistic events on the Globe

One of the greatest elements of the Rio Carnival is that it not only provides entertainment for many people around the world but it also gives you the chance to learn about the true culture of Brazil

It is a euphoric event where people dance, sing, party and have lots of fun. There are many parties that take place before, during and after Carnival all night and all day. It allows someone's true heart to come out and have as much fun as possible

NOODLE SOUP WITH TERIYAKI BEEF & TOASTED CASHEWS

FOR THE NOODLE SOUP

- 2 tbsp soy sauce
- 5cm piece fresh ginger, peeled and finely sliced
- Pinch chilli flakes
- 300ml vegetable stock
- 200g ready-cooked udon noodles, heated
- 1 pak choi, divided into leaves and washed

FOR THE TERIYAKI BEEF

- 2 tbsp olive oil
- 200g beef fillet
- Salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 2 tbsp soy sauce
- 2 tbsp clear honey

TO SERVE

- 2 tbsp cashew nuts, lightly toasted
- 2 spring onions sliced into rings

METHOD

1. For the noodle soup, place all the noodle soup ingredients except for the noodles into a saucepan and bring to the boil. Reduce the heat and simmer for 3 minutes. Add the pak choi and simmer for a further 3 minutes.
2. For the teriyaki beef, rub the beef all over with olive oil and season well with salt and freshly ground black pepper.
3. Heat a frying pan until hot and fry the beef for 2-3 minutes on each side, or until cooked to your liking. Remove the beef from the pan and set aside to rest in a warm place. Add the soy sauce and honey to the pan and stir, then remove the pan from the heat.
4. Cut the beef into thin slices and stir around in the pan of soy mixture to coat all over in the pan juices.

5. To serve, place the noodles into a bowl and pour over the soup. Top with the sliced beef and sprinkle over the cashew nuts and sliced spring onion.
