ROL NEWS: JUNE 2016

DOUBLE SCOOP AT THE HURTIGRUTEN GLOBE TRADE EVENT

We are delighted to reveal that we were announced the winner of two awards at the Hurtigruten Trade Event that recently took place on board newly refurbished ship, MS Kong Harald.

As the number 1 agent in the UK for Hurtigruten, we are proud to have been named the 'Best Performer – Explorer Sales in the UK' and the 'Most Inspiring Partner of the year in the UK'.

Commenting on the awards, Andrew Say, Commercial Director of Reader Offers Ltd said: "To receive the 'Best Performer – Explorer Sales in the UK' and also the 'Most Inspiring Partner of the year in the UK' awards from Hurtigruten really is a marvellous achievement and one that the team should be very proud of. The explorer cruise market is certainly increasing in popularity as travellers are looking for the combination with an expedition-style holiday, yet with all the comforts on board a quality ship. Working with Hurtigruten, we are able to create some amazing packages that really give travellers the opportunity to venture to memorable destinations."

Please turn to pages 34 & 35 to embark on a once-in-a-lifetime Antarctica expedition on board MS Midnatsol

Marketing Executive, Dale MacPherson recently got to experience the real Norway with Hurtigruten and shares his experience...

I've been to Norway once before, however in a different season and not with Hurtigruten so I was really looking forward to experiencing the newly renovated MS Kong Harald. After a quick check in and safety briefing I boarded the ship and was surprised as to what I found. Having sold Hurtigruten for years I was used to telling customers that they are working ships and you get a completely different experience aboard - it's not all razzle dazzle and is still used as the main postal vessel for Norway. However with spacious public areas, a contemporary Nordic country theme, large windows and welcoming staff, you couldn't feel more at home! My cabin was comfortable and cosy and a large porthole window was the perfect frame for the scenery.

Up on deck everyone waved farewell to Bergen as we began our journey through the Fjords, and with the clear day, you could see people had the same thing on their minds – would the greatest show on earth make a performance this evening? After I familiarised myself with the ship it was time to sample a three-course meal in the à la carte restaurant. All the courses perfectly complemented the region we were in, with fresh fish being the main contributor. I then made my way to the two-storey panorama lounge with my favourite tippie and watched the sunset.

Not more than an hour after the sunset, that all important announcement everyone was waiting to hear came from the captain: "Northern Lights sighting up on deck". At that moment not one person was sitting in their chair. First piece of advice – have a warm coat at the ready! Clear skies in Norway in winter inevitably mean it's going to be freezing! Staring at the dark starlit sky, I tried to allow my eyes to adjust. Next piece of advice – find the darkest place with no lights to hinder your view, your eyes will pick up colour better if there is no artificial light. Staring into the distance I could just make out a whitish whisp – wondering if this was it (and it was indeed the Northern Lights) I was slightly underwhelmed... but not for too long. Before long a whitish green strip crossed the sky over the land. I can see how ancient mythology could mistake them for gods racing across the skies or a beautiful light guiding spirits to the afterworld. It's amazing how emotional it can make you feel and how childlike – almost like seeing snow for the first time. The show lasted for approximately three hours and ranged in intensity – at times vividly dancing over my head like wispy spirits playfully dancing in the midnight sky. April isn't renowned for Northern Lights sightings so I was extremely lucky to see them so vividly.

The scenery is the star of Norway, followed by the famous Hurtigruten ships. With optional excursions you can get a true flavour of the region, I could go on and tell you all that I experienced, but I have to leave something for you to discover yourself.

Due to Black Watch's intimate size, experience cruising majestic fjords, passing countless scenic highlights and reaching the most beautiful, unexplored corners of the Arctic region those larger ships simply cannot.

Upon embarkation in Dover, you'll begin your voyage of discovery two days later in Bergen. The city's beauty presents itself immediately with its colourful timbered houses. The beautiful villages of Skjolden and Olden will follow – as well as cruising some of Norway's most famous and photographed fjords. Sitting at the end of the world's longest fjord, Skjolden is considered one of the world's most breathtaking destinations. Olden is a charming village set in green meadows which are ablaze with colourful flowers throughout the summer. You'll be lucky enough to cruise from Nærøfjord to Gudvangen – a feat only managed by smaller ships.

While at sea, you'll be enchanted by many other stunning sights; from the unusual Torghatten (Hat Mountain) to the mighty Svartisen (Black Glacier), you will head into the realms of Arctic Norway, crossing the Arctic Circle and arrive at Tromsø – the 'Gateway to the Arctic'.

Honningsvåg is the perfect starting point for optional excursions to the North Cape and the Midnight Sun, before moving on to discover glorious Spitsbergen. Lying north of mainland Norway, the largest island of the Svalbard archipelago, Spitsbergen, feels beautifully isolated from the rest of civilisation. Shrouded by snow-capped mountains, both Pyramiden and Longyearbyen exhibit a 'ghost town' feel, with abandoned Soviet-era buildings and mines, indicators of the once rich industrial heritage of the area. Keep an eye out for 'The Temple' as you glide along the Tempelfjorden, a visual treat rated as the best Norwegian destination by Fred. Olsen guests.

Akureyri, presents an unmissable opportunity to visit Godafoss, the 'Waterfall of the Gods'; alternatively, embark on an optional whalewatching excursion. As Black Watch ventures northwest, you'll pass the intriguing Dinosaur Rock, the tooth-like pinnacles of Drangaskörð, and the dominating 'King & Queen of Cliffs', before immersing yourself in the jaw-dropping network of the Westfjords.

By contrast, Greenland features a fusion of pristine waterways and gloriously isolated towns, all nestled amongst mighty mountains, vertical sea-cliffs, plummeting waterfalls and gleaming blue icebergs. Whilst ashore in Qaqortoq, take a hike along the shores of the town's Great Lake. Your other stop, Narsarsuaq, became home to a United States air base in 1941. While fascinating relics still remain, this quaint settlement is now more commonly used as a station from which adventurers explore the magical Qoroq Ice Fjord.

A breathtaking array of scenic cruising includes the island of Mykines – famed for its nesting seabirds; the unusual, arch-shaped sea stack of Drangarnir; Cape Enniberg, a remarkable feat of nature that's the northernmost point of the islands; the village of Gásadalur, much-photographed due to its iconic waterfall onrushing from the cliff's edge to the water below; and a handful of mysterious fjords flanked by soaring mountains and cliffs. A call into Tórshavn completes your journey. There's no better way to see this marvellous port than from the water. The capital is built on a hillside and as you sail into the harbour, you'll see the entire town banking up the hill before you. En route back to Dover, you'll enjoy final scenic cruising as you sail Leirvíksfjørður & Djúpini, Cape Enniberg and Svínoyarfjørður – leaving you with memories that will last a lifetime.

TOP 5 DESTINATIONS AROUND THE WORLD

Ever the luxurious holiday option, cruises are in essence the perfect way to explore many of the world's most exotic destinations in comfort. Whether the impressive wildlife of Canada calls or immersing yourself in the Orient is a must, cruises take their passengers on a once-in-a-lifetime journey via the Earth's oceans. Discover five cruise destinations not to be missed on your next seafaring adventure.

NEW ZEALAND

Voted this year's top global destination by Telegraph readers, New Zealand is likely to appeal to all manner of discerning voyagers in 2016. The 'new' country with ancient roots is an eclectic relationship of indigenous legend, colonial ambition and today's adrenaline-coursing adventures, which include hot air balloon rides across the Waikato River. Enjoy glorious 360-degree views of one of the country's foremost cities from atop the Sky Tower in Auckland, or learn about Maori culture at the historic Waitangi Treaty Grounds. To enjoy New Zealand including a two night hotel stay in Auckland, with Celebrity Cruises®, turn to pages 40 & 41.

MALAYSIA

The tropical Asian destination remains a premier haven for cruise-goers and with good reason. From the wild atmosphere of the Borneo jungle to the modern excitement of its capital Kuala Lumpur, no other paradise on earth blends exoticism, tranquillity and progress quite as effortlessly as Malaysia. Soak up the energy of Kota Kinabalu's bustling nightlife with a trip to the Night Market, or sample the country's renowned flavours and complex spices with lunch on the shoreline in Port Klang. Turn to pages 8 & 9 for our Fred. Olsen 2018 Wonders of the World Voyage, and see Malaysia for yourself.

ALASKA

Intrepid explorers need look no further than Alaska for natural inspiration, with the cooler waters providing the perfect ecology for numerous species of rare arctic wildlife and the rugged landscape showcasing spectacular scenery. On dry land, see the breathtaking Mendenhall Glacier for yourself before heading a little way south to the capital Juneau. Continue your search for Alaska's heritage with a trip to the prospecting region of Skagway, where the land's promise of undiscovered wealth saw people flock to the area in the 1800s. Today, the Klondike Gold Rush National Historic Park lets visitors retrace the trail of the treasure hunters that came before. Please call our Cruise Specialists to arrange your spectacular cruise to Alaska.

COSTA RICA

Idyllic is one way to describe the relatively untouched beauty of Costa Rica. Magnificent waterfalls and exotic jungles provide a plethora of outdoor excursions for great explorers visiting the land. Near the city of Puerto Limón, the spirited colours of Veragua Rainforest Park's tropical butterflies, birds and marine life are matched only by the passionate nature of the people who call this paradise home. Coastal adventurers in particular will appreciate the stunning beaches along Puntarenas, ideal for a day spent walking the shores before cruising off to somewhere new. Discover Costa Rica on board Azamara Quest, including a six night post-cruise land tour with Cox & Kings, on pages 42 & 43.

BALTIC

Calling in at many of Europe's charming cities, a Baltic cruise oozes Nordic elegance and regal history, providing the ultimate journey through the northern peninsula. Don't miss the chance to visit Russia's St. Petersburg, a land of marvellous baroque palaces and world-class art. The evening ballet is on a new level of sophistication. Alternatively, Copenhagen in Denmark is the land of the revered Hans Christen Anderson and the fairy-tale architecture in this city sits seamlessly next to impressive buildings of futuristic design. The Baltics fuse modern comfort with the romance of a bygone era. For your chance to see the elegant and historic Baltic, see page 15 for our Cruise & Maritime Voyages cruise, with an overnight stay on board in St. Petersburg.

Maritime Memories

with Nigel Lingard
(Non-Executive Director, Reader Offers Ltd)

DURING MARCH I ATTENDED THE SEATRADE GLOBAL CRUISE CONVENTION, WHICH WAS HELD IN FORT LAUDERDALE; A CHANGE OF VENUE AFTER OVER 20 YEARS IN MIAMI BEACH.

These two Florida ports are constantly vying for top spot as “the world’s busiest cruise port”, and although Miami still retains its position of handling the most passengers, Fort Lauderdale does host the world’s largest cruise ships.

The line-up of vessels in port each day was quite impressive, with virtually all of them on a regular series of Caribbean runs, typically 7 to 10 nights, plus 3 or 4 night Bahamas mini-cruises.

Conference discussions included reviews of the latest cruise sales figures from around the world – trends which are of course critical to the cruise lines’ long term ship deployment planning. The spectacular growth of the Chinese market continues, and accordingly all the major cruise companies are now established there.

Within Europe the popularity of cruising is rising fastest in Germany, where a younger family clientele are joining the new ships of Aida and TUI Cruises. Here in the UK, after a couple of flat years, sales grew again in 2015. This was particularly fuelled by the addition of the mighty “Britannia” to P&O Cruises’ fleet, offering Southampton summer sailings and a Barbados winter season. Looking ahead, we can see more capacity coming to the UK as Cruise & Maritime add “Columbus” to their fleet. (See the buy one get one free promotion on pages 12-17).

The choice of departure ports for the increasingly popular “no-flying” voyages has grown further, with Fred. Olsen adding Falmouth to see them now offering over 10 different embarkation options. The company is also investing in an ongoing programme of enhancements to its four vessels, as well as seeking out new “maiden” ports to broaden the itinerary content. (Fred. Olsen 2017 best-sellers on pages 4-11).

At the luxury end of the market new ships continue to be ordered, with new vessels for Regent, Seabourn and Silversea all due to be delivered soon. The Regent team are so pleased with forward bookings that an additional ultra-luxury sister ship has now been ordered for 2020 delivery. With sister line Oceania also adding capacity, the range of globe-spanning itineraries these two now offer is quite remarkable. (Turn to pages 45-47 for Oceania and 48 & 49 for Regent).

Wherever you are cruising this Spring, I wish you calm seas and fair skies!

We are delighted to present readers with this brand new opportunity to take a close-up look at the world's most fascinating and charming continent. Travel to the mighty frozen landscapes of the south, see the beautiful fjords of Chile and if weather permits, go on land and explore Cape Horn. With its incredibly rich fauna, the Southern Ocean is drama on a grand scale in which the struggle for survival is constant. This unending, white wilderness of a continent is full of fantastic impressions. There are more penguins, and penguin species, here than anywhere else on Earth. Elephant and fur seals, Minke whales, large flocks of sea birds — not forgetting the wandering albatross — give life to this surreal and beautiful landscape. On board MS Midnatsol, one of the most comfortable expedition platforms, you'll enjoy presentations from experts. To secure your place on this once-in-a-lifetime expedition please call Reader Offers Ltd today.

(regional and premium class flights are available on request*)
- Sun 25 Santiago, Chile
Upon arrival, transfer to a hotel[‡] for your two night stay including breakfast
- Mon 26 Explore Santiago at your leisure
- Tue 27 Santiago/Punta Arenas, Chile
Transfer to the airport and fly to Punta Arenas. Upon arrival, transfer to the port and embark MS Midnatsol for your 15 night voyage of South America and Antarctica
- Wed 28 Chilean Fjords/Tierra del Fuego

MARCH 2018

- Thu 1 - Chilean Fjords/Tierra del Fuego
- Fri 2 Before continuing through the fabled waters of Patagonia, you will sail in one of the world's most remote, undisturbed and beautiful places. Near the southern tip of Chile the southern Andes Mountains plunge into the icy water and leave a region which is so wild and remote that it seems almost undisturbed. In these Chilean fjords, the ice has scoured its way between the mountains, leaving isolated islands and hidden bays. If the weather permits, you will anchor off Cape Horn, where you will be able to leave the ship to explore this deserted and yet romantic piece of land at the end of the world
- Sat 3 Relaxing at sea/crossing the Drake Passage
The Drake Passage connects the southern Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Here the warm water from the north meets the cold, less salty water from the south. This makes the ocean particularly rich in nutrients and is the basis of the unique marine life here. Whilst you cross the sea towards Antarctica, a number of presentations will be given on board about various aspects of the history and wildlife of the Antarctic
- Sun 4 - Antarctica (possible landing sites Half Moon Island, Yankee Harbour, Neko Harbour, Brown Station, Cuverville Island)
- Wed 7 Human beings often become very humbled in their meeting with Antarctica. Imagination alone is not a sufficient tool to "get the picture" - a saying amongst Antarctic travellers is: "If you can describe Antarctica with words - you have probably never been there". While in Antarctica, you will attempt to land on several sites. On land, the expedition team will explain what you see and help you avoid disturbing nature and wildlife

- Thu 8 Relaxing at sea/crossing the Drake Passage
With the bow pointed north and unforgettable images and experiences in your souls, you will enjoy a new understanding of the Antarctic and Chile. During the voyage enjoy lectures summarising the Antarctic themes
- Fri 9 - Falkland Islands (possible landing sites New Island, Carcass Island, Saunders Island, West Point Island and Port Stanley)
The islands have a unique ecosystem of about 70 different sub-Antarctic animal and bird species. The black-browed albatross, Striated Caracara, Elephant seal, sea lion and five different species of penguin including King penguin are just a few of them. There are also about 347 wild plant species in the area. The landscape is majestic, with cliffs and needle-like stones covered in green grass. Enjoy a chance to visit the area around North-West Falkland, home to fascinating landscapes and wildlife, before arriving in Stanley, the islands' capital, which makes a wonderful starting point for various excursions in the area. You can choose to take an optional excursion⁺ or explore the town on your own
- Tue 12 - Relaxing at sea

Weather and conditions permitting you may enjoy a hike passing the Teniente Camara Station and on to a view point that is a popular place to look for whales in the bay facing towards the Bransfield Strait.

YANKEE HARBOUR, SOUTH SHETLAND ISLANDS

The main attraction for many visitors is Yankee's terraced Gentoo penguin colony with an estimated 4,000 breeding pairs. Predatory skuas also nest here and travellers are often witness to the struggle between a penguin protecting its young and a skua trying to feed theirs.

NEKO HARBOUR

The bay is surrounded by mountains and alpine glaciers where its wildlife provides the perfect photo opportunity. Neko is one of the very few places on the Antarctic Peninsula where one can come ashore on the Antarctic mainland. On land there is a colony of Gentoo penguins.

CUVERVILLE ISLAND

Here lie the islands of Danco and Cuverville, the latter being home to one of the largest known colonies of chinstrap penguins. The shallow water between the islands often causes icebergs to become stuck here, offering a fantastic spectacle when it occurs.

CRUISE EXPERT:
JANE ARCHER

Jane ARCHER

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and the Daily Telegraph Travel's cruise expert. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for ten years.

Take a cruise on the Wild Side

What do most people associate with river cruising? Castles on the Rhine, maybe, imbibing wine in Provence? What if I were to tell you I have been on river cruises that visited catfish farms, took me to be blessed by monks and where I rode in trishaws, tuk-tuks and oxcarts?

Just as ocean cruising has a wild side, so does travelling on some of the world's greatest waterways. Sail the Ayeyarwady in Myanmar and you can take balloon rides over the pagodas in ancient Bagan, walk across the vast U-Bein Bridge (look, no handrails!) and visit local villages to learn about life along the river bank.

Cruise the Mekong between Siem Reap in Cambodia and Ho Chi Minh City in Vietnam, and you can dine on deep-fried crickets and fried tarantula (don't worry, they do serve other stuff as well!), learn the fate of a silk worm once it has done its job and enjoy the best foot massages in the world (and the cheapest!) on the waterfront in Phnom Penh.

Why I am telling you all this? Because later this year will be sailing the Red River in Vietnam (no, I had never heard of it before either) with a company called Pandaw, which offers some amazing river cruises in Asia to places way off the beaten track.

It has cruises on the Upper Mekong, sailing from Laos to China, and on the Brahmaputra in India, which is an amazing journey through Assam and includes an elephant-back safari in Kaziranga National Park (you may have seen pictures of the park recently as it's one of the places the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge visited during their tour of India in April).

Naturally Pandaw sails the Ayeyarwady and Mekong, but has also recently launched cruises on the Kapuas River System through western Kalimantan in Indonesian Borneo, with jungle treks and wildlife spotting among the highlights. That was another one that had me scurrying for a map!

But back to the Red River, which promises to be amazing. We'll be cruising around the limestone karsts in Halong Bay, spend a day in Hanoi to see Ho Chi Minh's mausoleum and the notorious Hanoi Hilton prison, and sail to places I've never heard of. I expect to see pagodas, rice paddies and a village where they make Vietnam's signature conical hats.

We will also visit Hoa Binh, about 39 miles from Hanoi, the site of a battle between the Viet Minh and French in 1951 and 1952. The French lost and two years later a conference in Geneva decided to temporarily divide Vietnam along the 17th parallel. The rest, as they say, is history.

I told my daughter the other day that I was writing about adventurous river cruising. She raised her eyebrows and said, 'adventurous, river cruising, really?' I reckon my Red River escapade will prove I am right. I see Reader Offers is selling the cruise I am on – it departs November 8 (flying from the UK on November 6), in case anyone is inspired to go.

Bound for Britain

The first time I went to Myanmar I sailed with Voyages to Antiquity, a cultural cruise line that specialises in trips to ancient civilisations. I also went to Jordan with them on a cruise that took us to Petra and through the Suez Canal. On a cruise to Lebanon and Syria, before the latter became a no-go area, we had a magical overnight stay in Palmyra.

Now Voyages to Antiquity is coming to the UK and will be sailing three no-fly cruises next year. There's a voyage around the British Isles from Tilbury and a cruise from Tilbury to Edinburgh that ends with a two night stay in that city. A return voyage from Scotland to Tilbury starts with two nights in Edinburgh.

Excursions are not finalised, but expect cultural days out to castles, Hadrian's Wall and Holy Island, laced with one or two visits to a whiskey distillery!

There is also a cruise round-trip from Tilbury that circumnavigates Iceland. This is something very different for Voyages to Antiquity as it leaves ancient civilisations behind and instead goes in search of thundering waterfalls, spouting geysers, volcanic landscapes, bubbling sulphur fields, fjords, glaciers and whales.

I imagine excursions will take in all of the above, and as they are mostly included in the price (as the previous MD once told me, 'the places we visit are an integral part of the holiday so it's only right they are included') there is no excuse for missing anything.

Bar three cruises that take in Greece and Sicily, Voyages to Antiquity will spend the rest of summer 2017 in the Western Mediterranean, sailing mostly around France and Spain. Several itineraries cruise the Guadalquivir River from Seville and include a stay there and a daytrip to Cordoba — a Spanish city with more than a hint of Arab culture (it was captured by Muslim armies in the 700s) and a Great Mosque built using parts of an old Roman Temple.

It's good to know that even in olden days, they were into recycling!

Seven Seas Explorer

THE MOST Luxurious SHIP EVER BUILT™

*S*even Seas Explorer® is spaciouly intimate, breathlessly elegant and perfectly staffed to offer you the ultimate in all-inclusive luxury – she represents a new standard in sophistication.

Designer suites feature custom-crafted furnishings, exotic stones and polished woods. Masterpiece, original artwork is throughout, and you'll enjoy the comforts of a spacious wardrobe, a grand marble and stone detailed bathroom – and the finer details of having your mini-bar personalised with your favourite beverages.

Highlights include the beautiful inlaid marble floor, elegant columns and ornate crystal chandelier in the atrium, and the floor-to-ceiling windows in the Observation Lounge, itself themed on the Roaring Twenties with stunning Art Deco styling.

The Constellation Theatre, on the other hand, takes you back to Hollywood's Golden Age, with eye-catching vivid blue seats, all with unobstructed views, matched to handy side tables topped by Murano glass lamps. It is said you'll be able to see the motif of a swan woven into the theatre's design as you enter the room, which will be used for everything from Broadway-style shows to cookery demonstrations and lectures.

The Café is the place to relax over a coffee while enjoying views of the sea, or you can curl up with a good book in the library. The casino has gaming tables and slots machines for those looking to gamble with Lady Luck.

There are lots of amazing new features on Seven Seas Explorer® including a Culinary Arts Kitchen with 18 individual cooking stations where you can learn to create scrumptious dishes under the guidance of expert chefs and the Meridian Lounge entertainment venue near the theatre.

There is certainly something to suit every taste, from succulent steaks and Italian favourites to the delicious multi-course menus served in the Compass Rose main dining room and Gallic classics in a stylish new French restaurant, Chartreuse.

Star billing in the Compass Rose – apart from the food and service – has to go to the stunning chandelier made from a cascade of aqua-blue glass 'teardrops' that brings the feel of the ocean into the room. As befits a luxury ship, the restaurant has an open-seating policy so diners are free to eat when and with whom they wish.

La Veranda self-service provides a casual dining alternative with indoor and al-fresco seating for breakfast and lunch. Come evening it converts into Sette Mari at La Veranda, an upscale Italian restaurant offering a combination of buffet and waiter service.

With its leather chairs, dazzling white table cloths and intimate alcoves, Prime 7 steakhouse will exude the style and sophistication of a London private members' club. The library to one side of the restaurant doubles as a private dining room for those in search of the ultimate in exclusivity.

And then there is Chartreuse, which promises a touch of Parisian romance with its 'cobblestone' entrance, sophisticated restaurant and al-fresco-like courtyard garden with marble flooring and decorative lanterns. Speciality cocktails are infused with the French liquor Chartreuse – bien sur! – while iron sculpting pays homage to, what else but the Eiffel Tower. On the menu, French classics such as steak tartar, rack of lamb and lobster tail take a modern twist.

The icing on the cake is that all dining, including the specialty restaurants, is included in the price. But then what else would you expect from the winning combination of a cruise on the world's most luxurious ship with the most-inclusive cruise line in the world.
