Jane ARCHER

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and Daily Telegraph Travel's cruise experts. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for the past 13 years.

LIFE ON THE EDGE

I'm basking in the Caribbean sun, a glass of fizz in my hand, the sea gently lapping at my side. Just another day in a resort in the West Indies. Or at least it would be – except I am on a cruise ship. And a big one at that, because I am on the edge of, well, *Celebrity Edge*SM.

To clarify, I am on the ship's Magic Carpet, a platform the size of a tennis court that's alongside the 'destination gateway' – a spacious room on deck two used for port talks and presentations – watching fellow passengers board tender boats.

Regular cruisers will know how tricky it can be to get in and out of tenders. On *Celebrity Edge*SM, it's a doddle. From the destination gateway you go down a few stairs (there is a chairlift for those who need it) and step from the Magic Carpet into the tender. These are not the usual lifeboats that whisk folk ashore in ports where ships are unable to dock, either, but specially-built tenders easy to step in and out of and with comfy seats. All in all, pure genius.

Even better, once the rush to go ashore is over, the bar opens and the Magic Carpet becomes an ocean-side lounge. And that's where I am now. It is magic indeed!

As the platform 'sits' on the water, the designers had to find a way to raise it while the ship was sailing. Initially the plan was just to lift it to deck five but then the question was asked, if it can go to deck five, why not higher?

Back at the drawing board, they found a way for it to 'fly' up the side of the ship, changing function as it goes. At its highest point, alongside deck 16, it becomes a speciality restaurant where up to 75 people at a time can have 'Dinner on the Edge'.

*Celebrity Edge*SM was really hyped up before she launched, and I confess I suspected it was all a bit of good self-promotion on the part of Celebrity Cruises® – until I got on board. Within half an hour I'd decided she really is special, with a fresh new look and sleek, modern décor alongside funky design features such as tree sculptures and hot tubs balancing on tall Martini glass-shaped stems.

There's even a sloping jogging track on the top decks and a spiral walkway all the way around Eden, a vast three-deck-high venue at the back of the ship with floor-to-ceiling windows that does service as a bar, restaurant and entertainment hotspot.

There are four complimentary restaurants, each serving the same menus but with their own themed décor and range of speciality dishes (Italian in Tuscan, French in Normandie, American in Cosmopolitan and Mediterranean in Cyprus). In a neat touch, an Art Deco panel that was originally on the ocean liner SS Normandie that many might recognise from *Celebrity Summit*SM now adorns the wall in Normandie Restaurant.

You can choose open-seating and eat in whichever restaurant you fancy (bookings can be made in advance or just turn up and wait for a table) or opt for traditional fixed dining and dine in the same place at the same time and table each evening.

Naturally everyone can take their pick from the alternative, paid-for eateries. The steakhouse was good but Le Grand Bistro was definitely my favourite as you get a three-course dinner and 3D animation show with 'petit chefs' preparing each dish right in front of your eyes. Baffled? That's just another reason to get on board and see for yourself.

I was on *Celebrity Edge*SM during her maiden Caribbean season this winter but you don't have to go that far to see her as she is sailing the Western Mediterranean and Greek Isles from Civitavecchia (for Rome) this summer, with a couple of departures also from Barcelona.

If you can wait 12 months, sister ship *Celebrity Apex*SM will be sailing a mini-season of no-fly cruises from the UK in April and May 2020. She'll be cruising to some of my favourite European cities including Lisbon, Oslo, Copenhagen and Amsterdam, and also sailing to the Norwegian Fjords, before relocating to Barcelona to spend the summer in the Mediterranean. You'll find more details about her itineraries elsewhere in this edition of Blue Horizons.

Most of the design changes I've mentioned so far are evolution rather than revolution. Not so the staterooms, which have what Celebrity has dubbed 'infinite balconies'. Modelled on the sun lounges on Scenic and Emerald Waterways' river ships, these have floor-to-ceiling windows that open horizontally with the touch of a button (you can also open them from an app!). The 'balcony' itself is inside the room, and can be separated from the cabin with glass doors.

The design means you can get plenty of fresh air but there is more usable space inside the cabin (I kept the glass doors open all the time) and you can sit on the balcony in any weather, even when it is blustery or wet. Those are both big selling points for me.

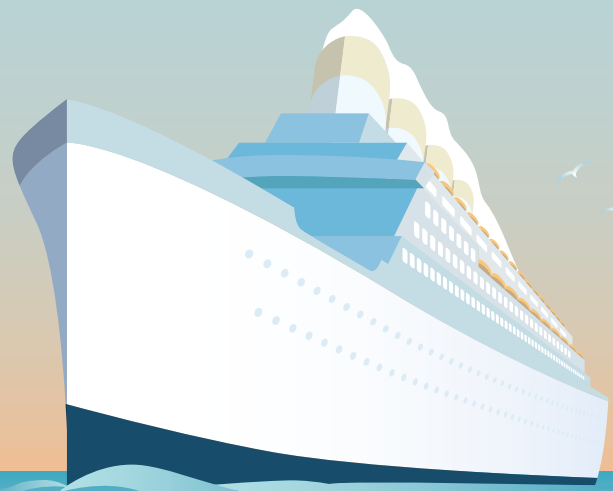

If you prefer to feel the wind in your hair, the suites all have sit-out balconies. Go for one of the two storey villas and you get a plunge pool on your balcony and direct access to The Retreat, a magnificent area reserved for suite passengers that has its own lounge, bar, sundeck and pool.

Or splash out on one of the Iconic Suites (there are only two). They are gorgeous, right above the bridge and surrounded by a wall of glass so you have uninterrupted views to the horizon. It's just like being the Captain!

Within half an hour I'd decided she really is special, with a fresh new look and sleek, modern décor

A country that boasts wondrous grace, stunning beauty and a sobering recent history, Cambodia is a land of contrast. Its highlights are plentiful, not least of which is the iconic Angkor Wat, considered the world's largest religious monument. The capital of Phnom Penh is the political and cultural hub of the country, with the gleaming gold Royal Palace and the Silver Pagoda superb examples of fascinating Khmer architecture.

DISCOVER HO CHI MINH CITY: Destination Always on the Move

Energetic Ho Chi Minh City, formerly known as Saigon, is a chaotic whirl of sight, sound and taste. Few cities can compare its dynamic offerings and, from serene temples and the Mekong Delta to the bustling floating Flower Market and rich urban tapestry, there is something for everyone.

Floating Flower Market

Street-food in Ho Chi Minh City

Củ Chi Tunnels

Mekong Delta

When arriving in Ho Chi Minh City, it is hard to ignore the high-octane undercurrent that reverberates through the streets, the people and the very air itself. Thriving with energy, you'll soon find that what might have once felt like an assault on the senses becomes a welcoming hubbub of dynamic cultures, ancient traditions and modernism all ready for you to explore.

As Vietnam's largest city, there is plenty to discover. The former Saigon boasts charming French colonial architecture, including the iconic Notre-Dame Cathedral and 19th century Central Post Office; the War Remnants Museum shows the Vietnam War through Vietnamese eye; ideal for haggling, animated Bến Thành Market has offerings ranging from flowers and handicrafts, to jewellery and even live frogs!

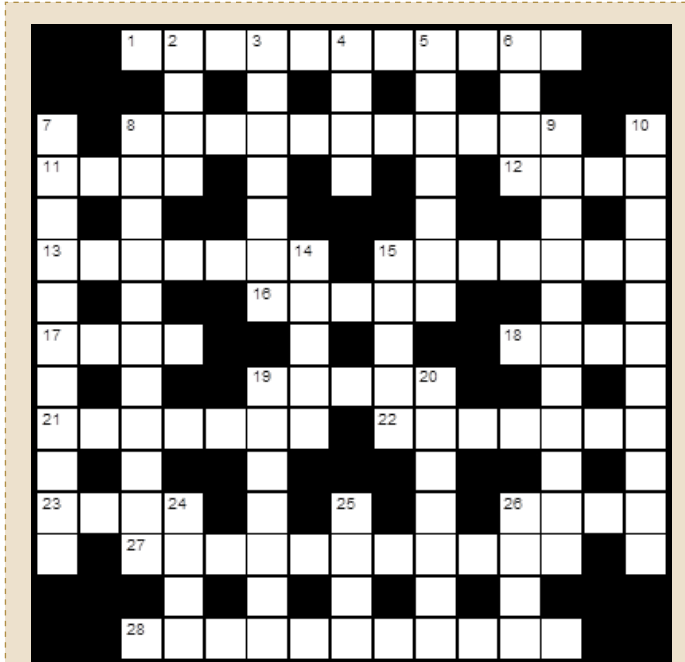

Street-food is king in Ho Chi Minh City and can be found on almost every corner. The city, and the many tourists who visit, love Banh Mi. This Vietnamese sub-sandwich is a fusion of meats and vegetables and was introduced to Vietnam during the 1950s. Other gastronomic delights include Pho Noodles, Oc (Vietnamese Shellfish), Com Tam (Broken Rice) and Goi Cuon (Vietnamese Spring Rolls).

Whilst Ho Chi Minh itself is a melting pot of things to see and do, it's well worth venturing further afield to see what else Vietnam has on offer. There are many tours available from the city that can enrich your holiday including those to visit the symbolic Củ Chi Tunnels. Used as hiding spots, supply routes, hospitals and living quarters for Viet Cong soldiers during the Vietnam War, the rich tapestry that the Củ Chi Tunnels weave below the surface of the country make for a sobering visit. Here, visitors are invited to explore the tunnel system as well as take note of the various display sites, Ben Dinh and Ben Duoc.

If you'd rather stay above ground, then an excursion to the Mekong Delta is an absolute must. Home to floating markets, houses and boats, the intertwining rivers and streams of the Delta demonstrate a life lived upon the water. Ashore, paddy fields and orchards give way to swamplands; children ride carefree on the backs of water buffalo; rice workers kneel in a sea of emerald and market vendors offer up their colourful wares.

JANUARY 2020

Thu 9 Fly from London to Perth, Australia*
Fri 10 Perth, Australia
 Upon arrival, transfer to a 4★ hotel[‡] for your two night stay

Sat 11 Perth, Australia
 Explore Perth at your leisure

Sun 12 Perth, Australia
 Transfer to the station and board the Indian Pacific train for your three night transcontinental journey to Sydney. Once out of Perth the train soon enters the outback as it continues towards the treeless plains of The Nullabor desert, which is home to the world's longest straight stretch of railway track (478 km). Throughout the journey as the train crosses from the state of Western Australia into South Australia, Victoria and finally New South Wales you will have the opportunity to see unique landscapes unfold and spot a fascinating array of wildlife from the comfort of the lounge or your cabin. This evening the train will stop in Kalgoorlie providing the opportunity to join a short tour of Australia's Gold Capital. Hear the story of the Largest Outback City in Australia that was built on gold. Learn about the sometimes risqué past and hardships encountered in the search for the elusive gold. Take in the colours of Australia at the Sunset Dinner or feast on a million stars at the Moonlight Dinner (D)

Mon 13 Cook, Australia
 Cook, once a thriving railway settlement, now has only a handful of residents left and is one of the world's most isolated outposts. Some 1,500 km from Perth, its scattered lonely buildings straddle the transcontinental rail line in the middle of the vast, harsh Nullabor (treeless) Plain. The train stops here for a short while to change drivers and take on water. Guests have the opportunity to briefly explore what today is little more than a ghost town (B, L, D)

Tue 14 Adelaide & Broken Hill, Australia
 This morning, enjoy a tour into the heart of Adelaide; sights include Montefiore Hill, Colonel Light's Lookout, Adelaide Oval Cricket Ground, Lake Torrens, the magnificent stone buildings of North Terrace, the Festival Centre and Rundle Street cafe scene. Broken Hill has been a major producer of silver, lead and zinc since 1883, hence its tag as the 'Silver City', and is currently thriving. The town is set in a remote and vast landscape of rugged ranges, mulga bush, desert plains, home to kangaroos, emus and wedge-tail eagles. The natural attractions combined with the clear light and beautiful colours have inspired many fine artists who base themselves here. During this tour you will have the opportunity to learn about the rich mining history, visit the Royal Flying Doctor Base, tour the city and surrounds, and visit one of the impressive art galleries (B, L, D)

Wed 15 Blue Mountains – Sydney, Australia
 Disembark and transfer to Katoomba and into the heart of the Blue Mountains. Your first stop on this ultimate adventure is Scenic World, offering a range of experiences for nature lovers, bushwalkers and thrill-seekers. Choose your adventure - glide between cliffs revealed beneath your feet on the Scenic Skyway, board a cable car to take in panoramic views of the World Heritage-listed Blue Mountains. Alternatively, stroll through the ancient rainforests along the elevated boardwalk, passing local flora and native birds on your way. There's also the steepest passenger railway in the world ready for you to board - the Scenic Railway with a 52-degree incline. This is an unforgettable experience that offers glassroofed carriages with impressive views of the rainforest. Travel to Echo Point Lookout, perched on the edge of the escarpment in Katoomba, taking in the expansive views of the Jamison Valley and the iconic Three Sisters, some of the most dazzling natural attractions in the world. Enjoy a light lunch at the Lookout Restaurant before embarking a train to Sydney. Upon arrival in Sydney, transfer to a 4★ hotel[‡] for your three night stay (B, L)

STEP ON BOARD THE MIGHTY INDIAN PACIFIC TRAIN... A TRANSCONTINENTAL JOURNEY UNLIKE ANY OTHER

VIETNAMESE CUISINE

Gỏi cuốn

— Vietnamese Spring Rolls

Vietnamese cuisine is distinct and delicious, with many dishes rich in salty, sweet, sour and hot flavours. Vietnam's most famous dish, Gỏi cuốn (spring rolls) are packed with greens, coriander and a selection of delicious meats including prawns and pork. Often accompanied by a dipping sauce, these translucent rolls are idea for serving as a dim sum selection, as an appetizer, or just as a light snack. The flavours of Vietnam are as exciting as they are tempting, so why not try recreating this Vietnamese favourite for yourself...

Ingredients

(Makes 6)

6 sheets rice paper, about 22cm

For the filling:

- 150g pork belly
- 18 king prawns, shelled and deveined
- 30g rice vermicelli
- 6 lettuce leaves
- 12 coriander sprigs, stalk on, chopped
- 18 garden or hot mint leaves, chopped
- 3 cockscomb mint sprigs (available from Asian supermarkets)
- 18 shiso/perilla leaves
- 6 garlic chives, halved and head removed

For the dipping sauce:

- 1 tbsp cooking oil
- 1 garlic clove, chopped
- 2 tbsp hoisin sauce
- ½ tbsp white wine vinegar or cider vinegar
- 1 tsp sugar
- ½ tbsp Sriracha chilli sauce
- 2 tbsp roasted salted peanuts, crushed

Please note, image is for illustrative purposes only.

Method

1. Bring a saucepan of lightly salted water to the boil. Add the pork, cover with a lid and cook for 15 minutes or until the juices run clear when you prick it with a knife. Allow to cool, then cut off the skin and very thinly slice the meat. Put the prawns and a pinch of salt in a saucepan of boiling water and poach for 2 minutes, or until opaque. Drain and allow to cool.
2. Put the rice vermicelli, a pinch of salt and a dash of vinegar in a bowl or pan of boiling water, cover and allow to cook for 5–10 minutes or until soft. Drain and rinse with hot water.
3. Once the pork, prawns and vermicelli are ready, put them and the remaining filling ingredients in their own individual bowls in front of you. Pour some warm water into a tray deep and large enough to submerge the rice paper sheets. Use a plastic board as a base on which to make the rolls.
4. Dip a sheet of rice paper into the water and take it out as soon as it is moist all over – do not let it sit in the water. Lay the sheet on the plastic board. Imagine the sheet is a face and now place the filling where the mouth should be: line up a couple of pork slices, 3 prawns, 1 lettuce leaf, and one-sixth of the vermicelli and herbs. Fold the 2 sides inward over the filling, as if making an envelope.
5. Now fold the bottom corner over the filling. Put 3-4 pieces of garlic chives along the roll with the tips sticking out of one end of the roll. Start to roll up the package tightly, pushing it forward and tucking in the filling in a neat cylinder as you roll it towards the far side of the sheet. Keep in an airtight container or wrap in clingfilm while you assemble the remaining rolls.
6. For the dipping sauce, heat the oil in a saucepan over medium heat. Fry the garlic until it browns slightly. Add the hoisin sauce, vinegar, sugar, chilli sauce and 1 tbsp water and bring to a gentle boil. Pour into dipping bowls and sprinkle the peanuts on top. Serve with the rolls for dipping.
