WIN THE ULTIMATE Carifoloean Escape WORTH OVER £6,000

Welcome To the July Edition of Blue Horizons

A certainty of the cruising world is that the sun will be shining somewhere that one of our many cruise line partners are visiting with their respective fleets. It is truly amazing how far you can travel on board a ship, and how many ports and destinations welcome cruise visitors across all seven continents. You might not instantly think of Cozumel in Mexico or the Amazon River as being on many cruise itineraries. How about Madagascar or Mystery Island in the South Pacific? Fear not, gentle reader, we have your most ambitious cruising aspirations well in hand within the pages of this edition of Blue Horizons.

We are delighted to present Ambassador's brand new launch promotion. There are brand new voyages waiting on pages 04-07, and on all of them the second guest will sail for half price! Mayan ruins await in Mexico, geysers in Iceland and, of course, Christmas sunshine at sea on the way to Morocco. These launch fares will increase so please don't miss out.

Sometimes, even our wildest imaginations cannot help a cruise ship reach somewhere land-locked, but that is where our Signature Experiences come in; pairing a carefully-selected cruise with an accompanying land tour. We've paired an all-inclusive luxury Caribbean cruise with Celebrity with a fully-escorted land tour with Cosmos. Nashville, Graceland and Memphis await on pages 50-51.

Finally, turn to pages 10-11 for incredible price drops with Fred. Olsen Cruise Line, exclusively for readers of Blue Horizons. Drinks and gratuities are included on these no-fly 2026 voyages.

Happy Cruising! Rosie and Sarah

SAND, SEAS & A boozy sovereign

nyone who has been to Norway knows how eye-wateringly expensive alcohol is. It's said to be a bid to stop excessive drinking. Personally I blame King (or four) that the town of Kristiansand was built on a grid system so he could find his way around after a few bevvies. Apocryphal? Maybe, but it's a good story. We're learning this, and the fact that when the boozy king founded the town in the 1600s there was just sand there - hence the name - on our way to a museum in what was Gestapo HQ during World War Two. We're here on a cruise around Denmark and Norway with Ambassador Cruise Line that is not only our first time in Skagen (say Ska'an to sound like a local), Aarhus, both in Denmark, and also Kristiansand, but also our first time with Ambassador.

It's also our first cruise from the UK for years – we're sailing from Tilbury – and a reminder of how easy it is. We parked the car, crossed the road, checked in and within 20 minutes were on Ambience, our floating home for the next week.

It's a nice-sized ship, not so big you get lost, but large enough (it holds 1,400 passengers) to have plenty of a places to eat, drink and sleep. There are Indian and steakhouse speciality restaurants in addition to the main dining room and buffet, various pubs and bars that were buzzing before and after dinner and a good supply of cabins and suites, many with private balconies.

Ambience launched as the very American Regal Princess, moved Down Under to sail for the now-defunct P&O Australia and is now as British as a stick of rock. Almost we spoke to were here for the good-value prices. "We can have three or four cruises with Ambassador for the price of one with other lines," one couple told us.

a calm North Sea en route to Skagen, a pretty town heavily into fishing and looking its picturesque best as we arrive, roofs shining under the blue sky.

It has one little problem though: sand. So much of it that it has buried the town's medieval church. It's all the fault of a mini ice-age that hit Europe in the 1500s. Locals cut down trees to keep warm so there was nothing to stop the shifting sands.

Naturally we have to go and look, before heading to a sand spit where the Kattegat and Skagerrak (the Baltic and North Sea to you and me) meet and the Germans built bunkers during the last war. Thing is, the bunkers used to be on the coast. Now the sand has moved the coast a mile away.

It's quite a contrast to Aarhus, a busy city with an amazing free-to-visit rooftop garden on top of a department store, and Copenhagen, Denmark's capital, where we enjoy a leisurely 40-minute stroll into the city from Langelinie (hooray that Ambience is small enough to dock there instead of having to be in the cruise port way out of town).

We've been here before and love it for its laid-back style, canal cruises and blend of grand squares, designer shops and cute restaurants, but boy is it expensive. A lesson, in case any of us needed it, of Ambassador cruise!

Some of the team are scientists and they'll engage you in lively talks covering subjects such as glaciology, ecology, geology and climate science.

YOUR EXPEDITION SHIP

MS FRIDTJOF NANSEN

The newest addition to the fleet will honour the heritage of her namesake - the Norwegian explorer, scientist, humanitarian, and Nobel Peace Prize laureate Fridtjof Nansen. Known for his innovations in Arctic expeditions, Nansen led the first crossing of Greenland on cross-country skis. He is perhaps most famous for his attempt to reach the geographical North Pole during the Fram Expedition (1893-1896). Interestingly, after Nansen's Fram expedition, the ship was passed on to another great explorer who secretly planned an expedition to the South Pole Roald Amundsen.

SUITE UPGRADE BENEFITS

Add some indulgence to your voyage aboard MS Fridtjof Nansen and reserve one of the Expedition Suites. Spacious and with bed combinations for up to four people, these well-appointed rooms offer special features such as a feature a double bed that can be divided into two single beds on request at the time of booking, and some have a sofa bed or a fold-down bed. Further more, book a Suite and enjoy EXCLUSIVE access to Lindstrøm, a FREE gift on arrival, champagne on arrival, FREE laundry, and an INCLUDED mini-bar.

"Uniworld promise you the trip of a lifetime and they do not disappoint. Hardly back home and we want to go back. We loved the Egyptian décor on our ship and felt like being in an Agatha Christie book. The staff couldn't have been more helpful from butler service to the dining room. They knew all of us by name and made sure we were taken care of. The food was unbelievable, we got recipes for our favourite dishes from the chef. We stayed at the Ritz in Cairo which was great. We wished we had booked the after trip as we didn't want to leave this beautiful country and our new friends." - Isabel, 8th Feb 2025

Sat 6 Tokyo, Japan

Spend the day exploring at your leisure. Japan's sprawling capital, Tokyo, is a destination always on the move. If you are not dazzled by the neon lights of modern shopping centres, then you will find solace and peace in a number of gardens. Rich in history, Tokyo is a modern city built on old patterns and ancient Japan is still apparent in the local handicrafts, lanternlit yakitori (grilled chicken) stands and historic temples
