Welcome

TO THE JUNE EDITION OF BLUE HORIZONS

ello and welcome to the June edition of Blue Horizons.

Perhaps its the change in weather, or maybe its the cool breeze we seek to embrace rather than escape, but the ocean does seem to be calling rather strongly this month. And of course, the places that ocean can take you to. Within these pages, we have an intrepid collection of destinations just waiting to be explored. The best part? You can do so with ease, in comfort, and perhaps with just a splash of luxury!

The Great Wall of China needs no introduction, we can certainly picture ourselves there already. Visit this iconic structure with Wendy Wu Tours on pages 22-23. Then of course there are the Galápagos Islands, a true natural wonder that can be explored on a small, environmentally-friendly scale with HX. Turn to pages 42-43 to find out more. After this there is the Amazon, still a place of mystery, where you can travel with 6★ Regent on pages 16-17. There are so many more, from Bali and Japan to Egypt and Istanbul. The world has never felt so accessible as it does within this edition of Blue Horizons.

Closer to home, we are delighted to have made the monumental move to employee ownership six months ago. Time is flying, the Employee Ownership Trust is now fully-fledged and our 138 co-owners are becoming more and more invested in the company: contributing ideas and visions, promoting causes close to their hearts and leading the way to ensure that ROL Cruise continues to grow and thrive.

Looking to the local community, our co-owners' chosen charity for April was the Colchester Food Bank. The foodbank provides families in need with three days of nutritionally balanced emergency food and support and they are part of the nationwide network of Foodbanks, supported by The Trussell Trust. We are immeasurably proud that so many of our co-owners chose to contribute to the foodbank, not only by donating much-needed physical items, but directly from their own paychecks as well, raising £2,750.

Whatever you are up to this month, we hope you enjoy reading this edition of Blue Horizons!

Happy Cruising!

Recently the ROL team had the pleasure of exploring Queen Anne...

We began our visit in the Grand Lobby, standing over three decks with timeless decor and striking features. This grand welcome set the scene for what the ship had to offer.

The number of bars and restaurants on board is beyond impressive, with options that ensure you can fully immerse yourself in an evening of indulgence. From the opulent Commodore Club to the spacious Carinthia Lounge, you can enjoy your favourite cocktails from the expansive list available. A personal favourite for us was the traditional Golden Lion on Deck 2, a classic venue across the Cunard fleet. There is a sense of home in the Golden Lion; wherever you are in the world, you won't be far from classic fish and chips.

The cabins and suites on Queen Anne are a top selling point. Every detail has been taken care of which makes for the perfect living area when at sea. Our favourite suite was the Penthouse Suite, which features a marble bathroom with a full-sized shower and a bath, a full living area large enough to entertain and an extended balcony which would be the perfect spot to catch the sun whilst relaxing.

As we ventured to the end of our tour, we enjoyed an impressive meal in the Britannia Restaurant. The food was some of the best we've experienced both at sea and onshore. We must give a special shout-out to the service – the staff ensured we were never without, be that a drink or a condiment. They couldn't do enough for us!

Overall, it's clear to say that Queen Anne is by far one of the most impressive ships at sea. She balances the perfect blend of a modern ship and a classic Queen.

CHINA IN YOUR HANDS

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and cruise expert for the Daily Telegraph. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for the past 19 years.

Of all the things I expected when I went to the Great Wall of China, getting vertigo was not one. But I did. Looking backwards after climbing up the steep steps (built for people a lot taller than me by the way!) was quite dizzying. It was also quite incredible.

We've all seen pictures of the wall and fans of the BBC TV programme 'Race Across the World' will remember it was the start point of the latest series, but nothing prepares you for the real thing.

Which neatly sums up everything about China. Whether it be the enormity of Tiananmen Square and the Forbidden City in Beijing or the Three Gorges Dam, a concrete giant 1.4 miles long, 377 feet wide and dubbed China's new Great Wall, it has to be seen to be believed.

And then there are the Terracotta Warriors, a vast army of soldiers, each more than six feet tall, built to guard Emperor Qin Shi Huang in the afterlife. To think they date back more than 2,200 years, and were only discovered buried in farmland 50 years ago, is beyond extraordinary.

So how exciting to see ROL has teamed up with Wendy Wu to offer a 13 night cruise-tour in November (and also on four departure dates in 2026) that visits all these amazing places, adds a couple of nights in Shanghai at the start and even manages to squeeze in a relaxing four-night cruise on the Yangtze River.

What a fabulous way to see a lot in a short time without having to worry about the language, reading train timetables or navigating restaurant menus. All sightseeing and meals are included and there will be Englishspeaking guides on hand to tell you what's what. Wendy Wu will even sort out your visa for free, which is such a bonus. Never mind the cost, filling out the forms and organising it all can be a nightmare.

The cruise itself begins with a visit to the dam, which is the world's largest hydroelectric power plant and a lot more interesting than it sounds, especially if you are a bit of a lock-geek like me. Back on board, your river ship will navigate the locks and the journey through the famous Three Gorges begins.

> Years ago, when they started to build the dam, many feared the rising water level would put an end to cruises on the Yangtze. They were wrong. The gorges are still deep, the scenery is still stunning and the craggy peaks soaring 900 metres into the sky are still often covered in mist, which gives them a mystical air.

Xiling Gorge and Qutang Gorge (Witches Gorge) are regarded as 'strong men' by the Chinese, but Wu Gorge, in the middle, is seen as a woman as it is surrounded by more gentle mountains covered with trees and grass. As you sail through, guides will share stories of the legends that surround them. Expect tales of wicked dragons and a rock that was once a goddess.

You'll also have a small boat cruise along the narrow Shennong Stream, a narrow tributary with its own three gorges where sharp eyes might spot hanging coffins, an old plank road carved in the rock and monkeys.

After the peace and quiet of the river, Chongqing, where the cruise ends, is a bit of a shock with its neon lights and lively buzz. The capital of China was moved here between 1937 and 1946 during the war with Japan, as it is protected all around by high mountains.

The city is also the birthplace of Chinese hotpot, which I love but rest assured is nothing like our Lancashire version. With luck you'll get to try it in Chengdu, the next stop on the tour, to visit the city's famed

And then you're off again, this time by bullet train, first to Xi'an for two nights to see those Terracotta Warriors, then on to Beijing, for a tour to Tiananmen Square and the Forbidden City, an evening at a Chinese acrobatic show and a final morning excursion to walk the Great Wall. Just don't look back!

MARINE IGUANA

The only marine lizard species in the world, these iconic iguanas are distinguishable by the white "wigs" of salt expelled from glands near their noses. They look fierce, but are actually gentle herbivores, surviving exclusively on underwater algae and seaweed. Their short snouts and razor-sharp teeth help them scrape algae off rocks.

GIANT TORTOISE

It was the Galápagos Giant Tortoise that gave the islands their name, and it continues to enchant nature lovers across the globe. Their leisurely existence – grazing, sunbathing and resting for 16 hours a day – belies a sad history of hunting, deforestation and near extinction. Fortunately, the Charles Darwin Foundation is working hard to protect all 12 species on the islands through research and breeding programmes.

BLUE-FOOTED BOOBIES

Blue-footed boobies are thought to take their name from the Spanish word "bobo", meaning "stupid", the term suited these clumsy and ungraceful creatures. During mating rituals, male boobies show off their blue feet with a high-stepped strut to prospective females that they want to partner with. The bluer the feet, the more attractive the mate.

GALÁPAGOS PENGUIN

The endemic Galápagos Penguin is the third smallest species of penguin in the world. They've adapted to their home in fascinating ways, from panting like a dog to cool down to having bare patches of skin to help radiate heat. You'll often spot them holding their wings out and panting in the cool sea breeze, as well as hunting in pairs and squeezing into narrow crevasses and caves to hide from the sun.

GALÁPAGOS SEA LION

The cute Galápagos Sea Lion is the most abundant marine mammal in the Archipelago and is often seen sleeping on the beaches or swimming close to shore. Their streamlined bodies make them very efficient swimmers and hunters, especially of sardines. If you're lucky, you may get the chance to witness young pups chasing each other along the sand.
