EXPLORE THE WORLD DIRECT FROM SOUTHAMPTON

YOUR WORLD VOYAGE HIGHLIGHTS

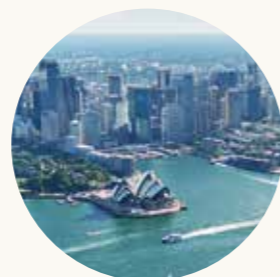

ASIA

A cruise is the perfect way to experience the continent's fascinating contrasts. The vibrant city-state of Singapore encapsulates this in itself, with ultra-modern skyscrapers overlooking historic temples. With buzzing cities, laidback islands, verdant rice fields, endemic wildlife, ancient traditions and a stunning cultural diversity, Asia has many layers waiting to be uncovered.

SCENIC CRUISING

As you'd expect with Fred. Olsen, the long list of highlights on this voyage is not limited to destinations visited ashore. There are full-day transits of the Panama and Suez canals, as well as a chance to discover the fiords of New Zealand, including the 1,692-metre-high Mitre Peak piercing the sky above Milford Sound.

SYDNEY

Sydney is one of the world's most exciting, must-see modern cities. Home to the famous Harbour Bridge and Opera House – two of the most iconic cityscapes on Earth – the capital of New South Wales has a visual wow factor that most other cities can only dream of. The imposing Darling Harbour is the hub of waterside life, with the revered Royal Botanic Garden nearby. For the more adventurous, Sydney Tower's outdoor platform, the Skywalk, offers 360-degree views of the city.

With over 127 years' experience of expedition cruising, Hurtigruten will expertly take you to often inaccessible places in England, Wales, Northern Ireland, the Isle of Man, the Republic of Ireland, Scotland and the Hebrides.

EXPLORATION & ACTIVITIES ASHORE

Your ship is equipped with a professional Expedition Team – a dedicated group of highly educated experts that will help you discover the best of each and every destination. Hurtigruten have on board specialists in marine biology, Arctic survival, oceanography, photography and many more academic fields to help make your journey an unforgettable experience.

INTRODUCING MS MAUD

Carrying just 528 passengers, MS Maud features bright interiors appointed in a classic Art Deco style. Colours are inspired by the midnight sun, allowing you to relax in warm vibes year-round. A specially designed Expedition Launch – the tender pit area with expedition equipment from where you'll embark on your off-ship adventures – has been added in addition to a brand-new wellness area featuring a gym, lounge, treatment rooms and outdoor hot tubs.

In keeping with Hurtigruten's adventurous spirit, they visit small remote ports on their expeditions. Due to sea conditions and secluded locations they visit, it's not always possible to dock in port. Sometimes they have to use small expedition boats to get ashore. ±Savings are based on full fare of £3,690 for an Inside Cabin on 26th April 2024 departure. YOUR CRUISE HIGHLIGHTS

SOPERS HOLE, FRENCHMANS CAY

This snug harbor at the West End of Tortola is the classic Caribbean yacht haven. It was a notorious den for pirates in the past and the marinas were hard hit by hurricanes Irma and Maria in August and September 2017. The community is now eager to welcome visitors again. Check on the progress at Pusser's Landing, the multi-service home of the famous wood-distilled rum and the Painkiller cocktail, which is good even if you're not in pain!

ST. JOHN'S, ANTIGUA

Antigua is blessed with an abundance of shining white beaches and other amenities counted among the best in the Caribbean. A pleasant drive up through farms and tiny villages leads to the commanding fortress on Shirley Heights, from which you can survey the town and the harbour of Nelson's Dockyard across the island.

CARAMBOLA BEACH, ST. KITTS

A classic golden arc of sugary sand at South Friar's Bay, Carambola is home to the island's most luxurious beach clubs and restaurants. Umbrellas, loungers and optional water sports abound for those so inclined. Otherwise St. Kitts has other attractions, including a number of lovingly preserved plantation great houses, the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Brimstone Hill Fortress and a scenic narrow gauge sugarcane railway.

★ YOUR ONCE-IN-A-LIFETIME EXPERIENCE ★

Escape and explore India on an incredible journey, with Wendy Wu Tours, through India's Golden Triangle including exciting opportunities to spot tigers whilst on safari through Ranthambore National Park. Embark on a land tour that will take you from the excitement of Delhi to the beauty of Jaipur, the 'Pink City'. On the way, appreciate the magnificence of the Taj Mahal before experiencing the wildlife-filled landscapes of Ranthambore National Park on this unforgettable adventure.

THE TAJ MAHAL AT SUNSET

You will have the once-in-a-lifetime chance to visit the Taj Mahal at sunset. One of the New Seven Wonders of the World, it is ubiquitously recognised as one of the world's greatest landmarks, and finest examples of Mughal architecture. Built as a tribute to his favourite wife, Emperor Shah Jahan said on its creation that it made 'the sun and the moon shed tears from their eyes'. The close-up detail of the Taj Mahal is as exquisite as the overall architectural design, with semi-precious stones and beautiful patterns adorning the marble surface. Not long after it was finished Shah Jahan was overthrown and imprisoned in Agra Fort where, for the rest of his days, he could only gaze out at the Taj Mahal through a window

RANTHAMBORE NATIONAL PARK & TIGER SAFARI

Unearthing and immersing oneself in nature and wildlife is something that many of us want to tick off our bucket list. Perhaps India's most famous national park, Ranthambore was once a royal hunting ground. Centred around the impressive 10th century Ranthambore Fort, the park's are scattered with old mosques, temples and hunting pavilions. The park is best known for its population of Bengal Tigers – as of this year there are 75, who are reasonably easy to spot but also has a wealth of other fauna and a diverse range of flora that calls it home. When out on safari look out for leopards, boars, hyenas, sloth bears and rhesus macaques. But the highlight of your safaris will undoubtedly be the moment that you set eyes upon one of the regal Bengal tigers that live in the reserve – an experience that few get to have, and once had, few forget.

IT'S NOT ALL Death on the Nile

Jane ARCHER

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and cruise expert for the Daily Telegraph. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for the past 17 years.

murder was nearly afoot in Death on the Nile and return after dark for a sound-and-light show over the Sacred Lake.

Aswan, where the boats turn around, is a sweet shop of delights, packed with excitement. Learn how ancient Egyptians cut obelisks out of solid rock in a nearby quarry, sail in a felucca, take a boat to pretty Philae Temple, which was moved stone by stone to the island on which it now stands to escape the rising waters of the Nile after the first Aswan dam was built. You'll do it all.

If you choose, you can also visit Abu Simbel, which was likewise moved to escape rising water, this time of Lake Nasser (it's an early start but so worth it). And after all that you'll come home vowing you never want to see another temple. Except that after a couple of years the Egypt's magic will be luring you back. Trust me. I've been there.

TURN TO PAGES 26-27 SAIL THE NILE WITH UNIWORLD

"Maybe Chanel No 5 is somewhere on these walls," my guide jokes as he points to the hieroglyphics in an antechamber in the Temple of Edfu. We're in what was apparently a perfumery back in the days of the ancient Egyptians and these walls are full of the various recipes they came up with.

After several days cruising the Nile I'm becoming something of an expert when it comes to temples, tombs, pharaohs and gods.

I've crept through dark burial chambers and learned that just as we have an app for everything, the ancient Egyptians had a god for everything – even crocodiles. Half of the Temple of Kom Ombo is dedicated to Sobek, the god of crocodiles – presumably an attempt to placate all the toothy reptiles that inhabited the Nile back in the days of the pharaohs.

I've also learned that when Ramesis II wasn't having monumental statues of himself built – there are four alone, each 66 feet high, guarding the temples at Abu Simbel – he was busy fathering 200 children. It didn't do him any harm as he is thought to have lived to the ripe old age of 97.

A Nile cruise is by far the easiest – and most comfortable – way to explore Egypt's treasures as so many are scattered along the river. Not that I am the first to work that out. Thomas Cook got there before me, taking his first group on a three-month jolly along the Nile in 1869. Soon a Nile cruise was on everyone's bucket list – and it still is if Uniworld's experience is anything to go by.

The company tells me sales for their all-suite vessels, Tosca and SS Sphinx, are at a "whole new level" this year. I'm not surprised. They are lovely ships, holding just 82 and 84 passengers respectively and with swimming pools on the sundeck so you can keep cool while enjoying the spectacular scenery. And just wait until you see the itinerary. Two nights in Cairo, a seven-night cruise from Luxor to Aswan and back and a night in the Egyptian capital to round it all off with almost all sightseeing included.

Prepare to be blown away as you touch and feel history that goes back thousands of years on a journey through myth and reality cluttered with murderous gods and cunning rulers. A perfect setting for Agatha Christie's Death on the Nile, which she partly wrote at the Old Cataract Hotel in Aswan, where Uniworld takes guests for afternoon tea.

You'll see the treasures of Tutankhamen, learn why pharaohs shaved their heads before going into battle, find out why everyone loves Queen Hatshepsut, see Whirling Dervishes do their stuff and get toggled up in a galabeya for an evening of music, dancing and singing with the crew.

You'll have a movie moment amid the 134 columns in the Hypostyle Hall in Karnak Temple, which starred in Bond's The Spy Who Loved Me and was where
