ROL CRUISE NAMED UK & IRELAND'S TOP OCEAN CRUISE AGENCY 2020

We are delighted to announce that we have been named as the UK & Ireland's Top Ocean Cruise Agency 2020.

Dedicated to recognising excellence in the travel industry, the awards for TTG's Top 50 were announced in June and we couldn't be happier to win. Given the current global circumstances, we are honoured to win this award which is testament to our dedication, commitment and hard work in the cruise industry. Well done to all at ROL Cruise!

IMPORTANT CRUISE COMMUNICATION A MESSAGE TO OUR VALUED CUSTOMERS

from Jeremy Dickinson, chairman of ROL Cruise

Proud to support the NHS

"We've all been humbled by the extraordinary, heroic work of NHS staff up and down the country. They are working tirelessly, selflessly and courageously to save as many lives as they can, all too often at the cost of their own lives. As an ambassador for ROL Cruise I'm proud of the initiative they have launched to raise £100,000 to support NHS workers. And I'm sure that everyone who books a holiday will be delighted to know that £25 will go to this hugely worthwhile cause. I hope you agree with me that it's gratifying to know that, even in these difficult times for the industry, ROL Cruise is prepared to dig deep and make a material difference to NHS staff." - Jennie Bond

NHS staff and volunteers are doing amazing work right now in caring for Covid-19 patients and we want to do our bit to show support too. During these times, it gives us all as individuals, groups and organisations the chance to show we care and to make a difference.

Here at ROL Cruise we have been thinking how we can assist in the current climate. Our commitment is to raise £100,000 to show our appreciation to the amazing NHS who are working tirelessly to save lives. For every booking made with us, we will donate £25 to the NHS Charities National campaign.

The money raised is funding grants to help NHS charities support NHS staff, volunteers and patients in ways above and beyond what NHS funding can ordinarily provide, including wellbeing packs, rest and recuperation rooms, electronic tablets for isolated patients to communicate to loved ones. The funds will also resource vital care partnerships and longer term mental health recovery of staff and families.

As we press on through these constantly changing circumstances, we are facing brand new challenges every day – personally, globally and for us in the travel industry. So from everyone at ROL Cruise, we hope that you are staying safe and well.

We understand the effects the current global situation is having on us all and want nothing more than for you to have something to look forward to. Together with our trusted Cruise Line Partners we are delighted to present our Summer Bonus edition of Blue Horizons – the fourth edition to be created from the comfort of our dedicated team's homes!

Since our inception in 1995, we have braved many global highs and lows, emerging, nonetheless and are delighted to have been named the Top Ocean Cruises Agent for the UK and Ireland by TTG. Our trusted cruise line partners are working hard to establish new health & safety procedures in line with Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA) recommendations, meaning that you can cruise with confidence and book with a trusted Cruise Specialist.

At ROL Cruise, our 25 years' experience in the travel industry has given us the knowledge and expertise we need to navigate through this difficult time. We always have and always will, look after your holiday as if it were our own and can happily reassure you that your holiday is fully protected with our ABTA membership and ATOL license.

The global situation that we are facing is unprecedented, so we would like to thank you all from the bottom of our hearts for your support during this time. We are all in this together and we will continue to serve the cruising industry, as well as you, our loyal customers.

Braemar in the Corinth Canal

YOUR 10 NIGHT VOYAGE DEPARTS 13TH & 23RD APRIL 2022

- Day 1 Fly from London Gatwick or Manchester to Valletta, Malta.
Upon arrival, transfer to the port and embark Braemar for your 10 night voyage
- Day 3 Crotone, Italy
- Day 4 Argostoli, Kefalonia, Greece
- Day 5 Katakolon, Greece
Situated on a headland overlooking the Ionian Sea, the Greek seaside town is the gateway to the UNESCO-listed World Heritage site of Ancient Olympia. Founded in the 8th century BC, Olympia hosted the original Olympic Games and its extensive, must-see ruins include athletic training areas, a stadium and temples dedicated to the gods Hera and Zeus
- Day 6 ★ Cruising The Corinth Canal ★
Dreamt up by the ruler of the Ancient Corinth, started by Roman emperor Nero, and finally completed by the French, the Corinth Canal was a project that spanned many centuries. Slicing through solid rock, the canal separates the Greek mainland from the Peloponnese and serves as a vital shipping link between the Gulf of Corinth and the Saronic Gulf in the Aegean Sea. As impressive as it is important, the Corinth Canal has to be seen to fully appreciate the engineering involved here, the narrowness of the canal – it shrinks down to less than just 24 metres wide at the very bottom – and the sheer scale of the carefully carved cliffs that flank the waterway

- Day 7 Piraeus (for Athens), Greece
- Day 8 Agios Nikolaos, Crete
- Day 10 Valletta, Malta (overnight)

- Day 11 Valletta, Malta
Disembark and transfer to the airport for your return flight to London Gatwick or Manchester

Days not mentioned are spent relaxing at sea. Itinerary is based on 23rd April 2022 departure and ports of call vary on other date

A SHORT STORY

ROL Cruise customer and competition winner
Martin Baker shares his story...

“It isn’t that life ashore
is distasteful to me.
But life at sea is better.”

As we ponder, reflect and hopefully plan our future trips, it occurred to me how Sir Francis Drake’s choice words could apply to all cruise enthusiasts, myself included. Especially now, we should be looking forward to happier times when the thrill and excitement of embarkation day will be in our diaries with the promise of new adventures, friends, and unforgettable memories.

Like so many, when our 2020 World Voyage was curtailed, I was repatriated from Australia back to the UK. No sooner had I arrived home that I decided to re-book for Autumn ‘21; the best possible course of action when a trip comes to an end, even more so during the current circumstances we find ourselves in. We so need to live our lives to the full and steer our ships along, as best we can, when the seas become choppy.

A few thoughts: Over thirty years ago, I was travelling through the South Atlantic. Fast forward to October ‘19 and a call into St. Helena with Fred Olsen. One of the first off the ship with a newly met, like minded traveller – Jacob – we headed straight for, of course, Jacob’s Ladder, the iconic 699 steps embedded into the cliff face, originally built in 1829 on an inclined plane to haul manure and provisions from the town to the top of the hill, which I’d climbed three decades earlier. How lucky was I to share this wonder with a kindred spirit, second time around. And then, just a few months later in Perth, Australia, I discovered Jacob’s Ladder 2; a perilous ascent from the waterfront up to King’s Park overlooking the majestic Bay. Do please go and discover these highly recommended experiences yourself. You will be inspired.

From many other on board highlights, a further standout occasion was to witness the recent cruise debut of two outstanding artists. It has to be said, cruise cabaret and recital standards can vary considerably. However, attending the premiere performance of these winners of ‘The Voice’ TV show, the audience erupted into an unstoppable ovation. An overwhelming commune between performer and audience, the likes of which I’d never seen previously.

More than any other component, it is people who weave together the rich tapestry of the cruise experience. The itinerary, ship’s facilities, dining possibilities, shore excursions and entertainment are all part of the enrichment package. But, like you, it’s the guests on board who have the stories to tell. Their loves, their passions, quirks and aspirations. A cruise is surely the magnet, the ultimate conductor for the meet at a bar over a favourite cocktail, a coffee by the pool, a night cap on the open deck to nurture a new best friend.

During the first days of a trip to San Francisco last year, I ventured into the dining room for lunch and found myself joining two interesting table companions. Glamorous, scintillating, vivacious sisters who, it transpired, were in the original line up of the famous Tiller Girls dancing troupe. This chance encounter initiated the first of many enjoyable rendezvous on board, both on and off the dance floor!

Mid way through our circumnavigation of Australia in February, Billy O’Laughlin announced he was leaving the ship in Adelaide to make a four day independent trip inland to the spiritual epicentre of the country – Ayers Rock – and to re-join the vessel in Fremantle. “You’re doing what? Whaaat? No way,” Billy’s wife protested. Despite two triple heart by-pass surgeries, Billy was adamant. And, so, he did. A man on a mission, looking thirty years younger on his return with tales to last a lifetime. Well done, Billy.

I met Paul, Louise and their two year old Ryan at the pizza restaurant on board, who’d joined the ship in Dubai. In their early thirties, this enterprising couple had built up their own recruitment business in London deciding it was time to take a deserved break away while their house sale was going through. Little did any of us know then that the pandemic was about to scupper not only travel plans but also house moves, business expansions, indeed whole livelihoods. Pleased to report Paul and Louise are pulling through and have booked their next cruise.

And then there’s the conundrum that’s Janice on her umpteenth Round World Cruise who invited me to join her for a drive around the imminent call at Tel Aviv, where her family lived. “A drive in my own car,” Janice politely informed me, she’d brought on board in Southampton and kept in the ship’s hold. But sadly, inevitably, the truth was outed and revealed there was no such car. (Instead, we took the train).

Crucially, let’s not forget Rahul, Kristen, Sharim, Beena, Sophia and Jovial – yes, Jovial’s his real name. Exemplary, dedicated members of the Ship’s Company who go at least the extra ten miles to genuinely deliver consistent attention and service values. Never over familiar, totally professional and spontaneous making you feel you’re the one that matters. Thank you and thank you, again, until the next time.

Following the pre-planning prior to your cruise departure, it’s the unadulterated rewards of freedom and many elements of surprise and delight that leave the lasting impression. The land lock of a hotel stay simply cannot offer the limitless possibilities of an on board cruise experience. Just imagine who’s going to be your new dinner date, your latest entertainment discovery, your must-see port. It’s all there for the taking. Make that reservation – and I promise, I’m not a travel agent!

So, just as I began, a final quote. This time from the pen of John Masefield and a simple request:

“All I ask is a tall ship and a star to steer her by”.

Look forward to seeing you soon, on board.

Sincerely,

Martin

Torbay, Devon

DISCOVER THE TREASURES of the British Isles

By Jennie Bond, TV Presenter, Royal Broadcaster, Journalist & ROL Cruise Ambassador

Imagine sailing around an island which boasts hundreds of beaches, a stunning coastline, some 30 UNESCO World Heritage sites, 15 national parks, and cities bursting with history and culture.

Picture arriving in a land known for its green hills and fertile plains, for its palaces and castles, for its music, its sport...and its fish and chips.

And then think about the joy of getting there without all the hassle and expense that air travel involves.

The fact is that a cruise around these wonderful British Isles of ours can be hard to beat. And in these difficult times which the coronavirus pandemic has forced on us, the idea of a no-fly, stay-close-to-home holiday might be even more appealing.

"When I was a child, holidaying in Britain was the norm."

A journey to Devon or Cornwall was an unbelievably exciting adventure which entailed leaving before dawn and motoring all day. If you lived in the south, Scotland seemed so far away that it might as well have been the North Pole.

But, as air travel expanded and the globe seemed to shrink, chasing the sunshine of foreign beaches became routine. And the result is that some of us have left many corners of this extraordinary island unexplored.

A few months ago I filmed a TV series in which I lived on a narrow boat and travelled the length of six British canals. My companions were TV presenter Anne Diamond, music producer Pete Waterman, and ornithologist Bill Oddie. The sheer beauty of the British countryside all around us as we drifted along was incredibly soothing. And there was so much to learn about the history and evolution of our native land: from the fortress castles built as defence, to the textile mills which drove the industrial revolution. It was an enriching experience which made me appreciate how much this country has to offer the traveller.

The lockdown of recent weeks has caused us all to rein in our horizon. Suddenly an hour's walk became an adventure. A view of anything beyond the four walls of our home became quite thrilling. It could easily become tedious but, curiously, I think many of us lucky enough to have a garden, or at least some outdoor space, began to find this smaller world and slower pace quite relaxing.

From our house, on the very tip of South Devon, we sometimes see cruise ships in the far distance, either heading off or returning from their voyages. We always imagine what's happening on board. With our long experience of cruising, we can so easily picture passengers relaxing by the pool, enjoying the delights of the dining room, or making their way to the theatre or ballroom.

And we always long to be with them!

A few weeks ago, with the cruise industry at a standstill, I was surprised to see both Cunard's Queen Mary 2 and Queen Victoria out at sea and wondered what they were up to. It seems that with no passengers on board, they were heading to Weymouth to anchor offshore until restrictions are lifted and cruising can recommence. Hopefully, that day is not too far off.

And, it may be that, in the uncertain months ahead, some of us will want to embrace a less complex life, keep that horizon close and enjoy all that the U.K. has to offer...from Southampton to Belfast, Edinburgh and Skye.

One of the great things about a no-fly cruise is that it's never more than a few hours from when you leave home until your holiday truly starts. We always feel a deep sense of relaxation as soon as we step on board.

One of my favourite nearby destinations is Guernsey. It has a unique charm, lots of sunshine and some great restaurants. There's also a lot of history to absorb, particularly about the German occupation of the Channel Islands during the Second World War – and their liberation exactly 75 years ago. It brings home just how close to defeat we were.

On one voyage, we had time not only to explore Guernsey but to take the ferry to the tiny island of Sark. I'd always wanted to visit this quirky place, where cars are banned and the main way of getting around is either by tractor, bicycle or horse and cart. In fact, you can walk around the 4.5 square miles of the island in not much more than a couple of hours.

Sark feels like another world from another era, and there are some wonderful sights to see. We took a horse drawn carriage ride up to La Seigneurie, which has been the traditional residence of the Seigneur of Sark for centuries. The building itself is worth seeing, and the gardens are simply spectacular. There's a Victorian glasshouse, a windmill and even a maze to get lost in.

Sark

Most domestic voyages take in Scotland, and I often think that those of us living south of the border don't appreciate all that it has to offer.

When the Queen Mother was alive, I used to travel up to the Castle of Mey in Caithness, which is about as far north as you can get. There is something magical about the clarity of the light and the quality of the air up there. And from that coast you can look across to the Orkney Islands. I've never been, but I'd love to visit them. That's another destination on many British cruises.

Another favourite of mine is the Isle of Skye. With its sometimes brooding skies and dramatic scenery, it has an atmosphere all of its own. And don't miss out on its seafood...it's among the best you could ever imagine.

Away from the islands, a cruise around Scotland will also give you the chance to enjoy all that Edinburgh has to offer. We were lucky enough to dock there during the famous summer festival. The city was abuzz with shows and entertainment of all sorts. Even without going to a show, we were swept up in the vibrancy and excitement of this wonderful old city.

Even though I've travelled the world with the Royal Family during many years as a BBC correspondent, there are still so many places close to home that are on my wish list: Cork, the Scilly Isles and Rothesay, to name but a few. I hope very much that we shall soon be able to take a cruise to some of them.

I know the industry is working hard to get up and running again, putting every possible measure in place to safeguard us all when we get back on board.

And I'm sure that, like me, your thoughts will already be turning to where to go – be it close or far – as soon as the lockdown is eased and we can all start voyaging again.

VOYAGE WITH CONFIDENCE

Slowly but surely, society is starting to come together again. At the same time, many are wondering how exactly we can still stay safe even when together. Hurtigruten, have always had, and will always have, your safety as their first priority. With over 127 years of experience, they have established strict procedures to protect you from infection. Now that Hurtigruten can welcome you on board again, they want you to know that they will be taking health and safety measures to the next level to keep you and those you travel with safe.

THE FUTURE IS GREEN

Hurtigruten have made history by removing all single-use plastics from their ships. In the hope others will follow suit, Hurtigruten, who sail to some of the world's most remote, pristine and delicate environments, have made this important commitment at a time when concern for rising plastic in the oceans is at an all time high. To ensure they are operating with the smallest footprint possible, Hurtigruten have removed plastic straws, coffee lids and plastic bags on all of their 14 ships, even single-use butter packaging!

MAY 2021

- Sun 2 Embark MS Spitsbergen and depart Greenock for your 10 night Scottish Isles Expedition
- Mon 3 Isle of Arran, Scotland
This sheltered island with its high peaks, is a haven for wildlife. Dramatic mountains, a distinctive distillery and good hiking all add to a microcosm of Scotland. Brodick town has its 16th century red-sandstone castle whilst the ruined castle of Lochranza was once a royal hunting lodge
- Tue 4 Islay, Scotland
Once the seat of the MacDonalids, Lords of the Isles, this is 'whisky island', world renowned for its peaty single-malt whiskies and many distilleries. As a stop-off for wintering geese and migrating birds, there are good bird spotting opportunities
- Wed 5 Isle of Gigha, Scotland
Tiny Gigha (pronounced Gee'a) is the 'Good Isle' and is owned by the islanders. Dairy cows produce a distinctive cheddar-type cheese, whilst Achamore House, set in 50 acres of woodland gardens, was once the home of Sir James Horlick who created a colourful and impressive display of rhododendrons
- Thu 6 Isle of Iona & Treshnish Isles, Scotland
World famous for its religious connections, Iona was settled in 563 AD by the Irish missionary, St. Columba. The much-restored Abbey still remains a place of pilgrimage and peace. Explore the Treshnish Isles, a group of distinctive volcanic islands which are home to a wealth of wildlife, from nesting puffins to colonies of kittiwakes, razorbills, guillemots and Atlantic grey seals
- Fri 7 St. Kilda, Hirta Island, Scotland
As a UNESCO double World Heritage Site and the 'jewel in the crown' of the National Trust for Scotland, a visit to St. Kilda is an unforgettable experience. The outlying stacs and islands, which are the remains of a volcanic crater, provide ledges for thousands of nesting seabirds. Minke whales are frequently seen around the swirling waters of the archipelago
- Sat 8 Stornoway & Shiant Isles, Scotland
Originally a Viking settlement, Stornoway is the main town of the Western Isles and the capital of the Isle of Lewis, which is the largest and most northerly of the Outer Hebrides. Late afternoon, explore the Shiant Isles. This tiny archipelago set in the midst of the Minch, the area of sea between the Outer Hebrides and Skye, has numerous colonies of nesting seabirds
- Sun 9 Loch Scavaig and Isle of Eigg, Scotland
Surrounded by the high peaks of the Skye Cullins, Loch Scavaig leads to one of the most romantic and dramatic lochs in Scotland - freshwater Loch Coruisk. Later, head to the Isle of Eigg to spend the rest of your day on this craggy island
- Mon 10 Sound of Mull, Scotland
From the Sound of Mull, explore the fascinating town of Tobermory as well as Loch Sunart. Recognised as the island's capital, Tobermory is a delightful deep-water fishing port where brightly painted Georgian houses ring the tiny bay. Then visit Britain's most westerly mainland point, Loch Sunart. The deep, quiet waters of this long loch offer sheltered kayaking, while the loch shores provide superb walking
- Tue 11 Isle of Colonsay, Scotland
Home to over 200 bird species, including the rare and elusive corncrake, this is a gentle island of woods and pretty beaches, such as Kiloran Bay, and with Scalasaig being the main settlement. Colonsay House is home to exotic gardens and the surrounding woods, moors and fields have over 400 species of flora
- Wed 12 Arrive in Greenock

INTRODUCING MS SPITSBERGEN

Named after the Arctic crown of Norway, MS Spitsbergen re-joined the Hurtigruten fleet in 2016 following complete reconstruction. Her name, which was selected by fond fans of the line, is of great significance to Hurtigruten because it is where founder Richard With first ventured into Arctic explorer tourism. This vessel's size and agility brings you close to natural and cultural wonders on expeditions enhanced by the on board lecture and science programmes. MS Spitsbergen's interior is characterised by its modern and fresh Scandinavian design, with colours that reflect the palette of the sea.

ROL Cruise Commercial Product Manager, Carly Goswell, shares her experience on board the brand new Seven Seas Splendor™...

A few colleagues and I had the very enviable task of spending a few days on board Regent's brand-new ship, Seven Seas Splendor, and, when I say it exceeded all expectations, that would be an understatement.

From start to finish someone was there to help and from the moment you step on board Seven Seas Splendor you are in awe of the quality finishings, contemporary colour palette, original artwork, exquisite glassware and marble-adorned floors. What was truly amazing is that even though the ship was at full capacity, no area was ever crowded. There was never a queue, but there was always a staff member on hand to whip up a signature cocktail, bring you a pair of reading glasses or offer you a blanket. Throughout the voyage we were spoiled every night with the most incredibly divine food; each course paired perfectly with a selection of wines to emphasize the delicate flavours. As standard, specialty dining is included for all guests, giving you multiple options for lunch and dinner.

THE BESTSELLING 2021 HALF PRICE NO-FLY GRAND BRITISH ISLES LAUNCH PROMOTION

“The great thing about cruising alone is that you haven't got to please anyone else”

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and cruise expert for the Daily Telegraph. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for the past 13 years.

A friend of mine recently told me excitedly that she was going on a cruise to the Arctic but then added – much less enthusiastically – that she was going on her own. “I'm really worried,” she said. “You cruise on your own all the time. What's it like?”

I have cruised alone on hundreds of ships over the years and have always had a whale of a time. True, the first day when you go into a lounge or dining room on your own is a bit scary but that soon changes. On almost every cruise, by the end of the first evening I've met people who introduce me to others, who introduce me to more people, and so it goes on.

The great thing about cruising alone is that you haven't got to please anyone else. You can do and see what you want and eat when you fancy. My husband loves his breakfast, but I'm not bothered, so on my own I can skip what he constantly tells me is the ‘most important’ meal of the day.

If you fancy going to the evening show you can without that dreaded “what do you want to do” debate. If you prefer an early night, you can do that too. Basically, you are your own boss with no one to fit in with.
