This is designed to showcase specific organisations' best practice as a learning tool to the public and private sector, in particular to leading policymakers and executives in transport."

The focus of the Parliamentary Review is to demonstrate how determined leadership and innovative thinking can turn around organisations or highlight how organisations or individuals have become outstanding leaders in their field."

- Fri 30 Crossing Drake Passage
This is where the warm water from the north meets the cold, less salty water from the south. This makes the ocean particularly rich in nutrients and is the basis of the unique marine life here. Whilst you cross the sea towards Antarctica, a number of presentations will be given on board about the history and wildlife of Antarctica

DECEMBER 2018

- Sat 1 Crossing Drake Passage
- Sun 2 - Fri 7 Antarctica
While in Antarctica, you will attempt to land on several sites. Possible landing sites include; Half Moon Island, Yankee Harbour, Deception Island, Cuverville Island, Neko Harbour, Paradise Harbour and Wilhelmina Bay. On land, the expedition team will explain what you see and help you avoid disturbing nature and wildlife. Human beings often become very humbled in their meeting with Antarctica. Imagination alone is not a sufficient tool to "get the picture" – a saying amongst Antarctic travellers is: "If you can describe Antarctica with words – you have probably never been there"

- Sat 8 - Sun 9 Crossing Drake Passage
The voyage from the Antarctic Peninsula to Ushuaia at the southern tip of Argentina is roughly 950km (600 miles) or 40 hours sailing time in good weather. During the voyage north, the lecture series will continue Weather and conditions permitting, enjoy a hike passing the Teniente Camara Station and on to a popular view point to look for whales in the bay facing the Bransfield Strait.

YANKEE HARBOUR, SOUTH SHETLAND ISLANDS

The main attraction for many visitors is Yankee's terraced Gentoo penguin colony with an estimated 4,000 breeding pairs. Predatory skuas also nest here, and travellers are often witness to the struggle between a penguin protecting its young and a skua trying to feed theirs.

NEKO HARBOUR

Surrounded by mountains and glaciers where its wildlife provides the perfect photo opportunity, Neko is one of the very few places on the Antarctic Peninsula where one can come ashore on the Antarctic mainland. On land you'll find a colony of Gentoo penguins.

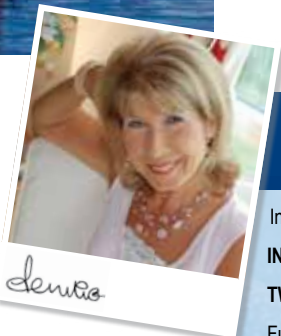

CUVERVILLE ISLAND

Here lie the islands of Danco and Cuverville, the latter being home to one of the largest known colonies of chinstrap penguins. The shallow water between the islands often causes icebergs to become stuck here, offering a fantastic spectacle when it occurs.

Part Seven: The Amazing Arctic

A Life Well Travelled

Diary of a Tour Ambassador

In stark contrast, March took me back to the high seas and up into the freezing cold Arctic.

Along with 200 guests, a Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines voyage sold specifically to witness the Solar Eclipse, would be taking us to the Faroe Islands and several Norwegian ports. I had cruised this area before but only in the summer so I excited about seeing a wintery Norway! I certainly wasn't disappointed.

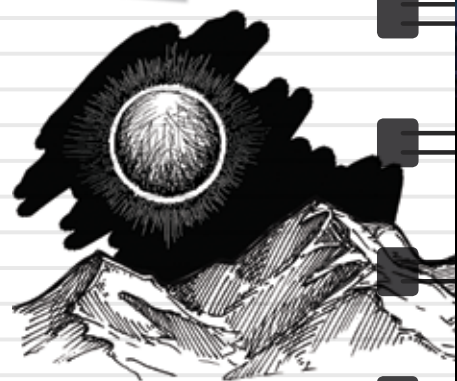

The spot that our Captain chose to view the Solar Eclipse was more than perfect. We later found out that the sister ship which sat facing us, about two nautical miles away could see very little. Other ships in the area said the same and those viewing from the Faroe Islands from where we sailed the day before were also disappointed. From the deck of our ship, in absolutely freezing-finger-dropping-off temperatures, we clearly saw every stage of the process from the first bites disappearing to 100% totality and the full corona. It was haunting and spectacular. The amazement that flowed through each and every passenger and crew member was palpable. AMAZING. Even if it did take me seven hours to defrost.

Arctic landscape, Spitsbergen

Gillian Lowes
ROL Cruise Ambassador

The itinerary took us right up into the Arctic Circle, to one of the northernmost points in the world. One place I'd never been to previously was Hammerfest, which was actually the original northernmost city, but has since been out-northered by Honningsvåg and also an Alaskan town. I took the full day trip to Hammerfest, and on the journey I was once again blown away by the sights that passed me by. I've always enjoyed snow and of course we rarely see it these days in the UK, so this was a treat. Pristine white, real Arctic snow for miles and miles as far as the eye could see. I'm known to fall asleep on any form of transport, but I could not take my eyes off this magical winter scenery for the whole two hour coach journey, both ways.

Overall, what a fantastic experience. I thought I'd 'done' cold cruising when I worked summer seasons in the Norwegian Fjords and the Baltics, but apparently not until this experience. Normally I get a little bit of colour on each trip, I think I lost some on this one after being battered by the Arctic wind. And seeing ice and snow on cruise ship decks, well that was a first. A truly unforgettable experience meeting another crowd of interesting people.

After trips to Hong Kong and Vancouver, a marvellous Silversea cruise and a week in chaotic Naples, my 2015 journeys came to an end and I wondered what 2016 might have in store. Surely it couldn't get much better than the last two years? How many more incredible places could the company send me to?

INDEPENDENCE DAY

In 1775, the people of New England began fighting the British for their independence and on 2nd July 1776, the Congress secretly voted for independence from Great Britain. The Declaration of Independence was first published two days later on 4th July, 1776, but wasn't actually signed until a month later. The first depiction of how Independence Day would be celebrated was in a letter from John Adams to his wife Abigail on 3rd July 1776. He described "pomp and parade, with shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations" throughout the United States. However, the term "Independence Day" was not used until 1791. Commonly known as the Fourth of July, today Independence Day is a federal holiday in the United States where celebrations include fireworks, parades, barbecues, carnivals, sports games and much more.

MARITIME MEMORIES

with Nigel Lingard
(Non-Executive Director, ROL Cruise)

LAST MONTH I MENTIONED THE BOOMING GERMAN CRUISE MARKET, AND SUBSEQUENTLY I HAVE HAD THE OPPORTUNITY TO LOOK AT THIS FIRST HAND.

Visiting the North Sea port of Bremerhaven, I saw five cruise vessels there on one day, two of which were calling in as day visitors, whilst three were on their "turn-round" day, sailing out that evening. Sales of cruises in Germany overtook the UK last year, although the customers are somewhat different, with far more relatively younger families choosing to holiday at sea.

Moving on to Hamburg, this historic port city is rather like Southampton, in that it dominates the cruise departure business, and has many associated maritime industries, including massive dry-docks in the heart of the city. These are often used by British-based lines such as Cunard and Fred. Olsen Cruise Lines for their ship refit projects. The local population have embraced cruising enthusiastically, and the biennial "Cruise Days" event attracts a quarter of a million tourists to the waterfront!

Cunard's Queen Mary 2 is a regular caller, operating transatlantic sailings from the new cruise terminal on the River Elbe, usually then sailing via Southampton. (See pages 6-7 Cunard launch).

Visiting these two ports took me back over 30 years to the peak times of North Sea ferry services, when first Prinzenlinien and then DFDS Seaways offered daily passenger/car routes. The advent of low-cost airlines, and then the loss of duty-free prices, sadly led to the withdrawal of all the overnight services with the exception of Stena Line's Harwich – Hoek of Holland sailings.

Whilst in Hamburg I attended the Seatrade Cruise Conference – and once again all eyes were on the Far Eastern developments in the cruise business. China in particular is developing as a huge source market for cruise customers, with long term aspirations to build its own vessels. This edition of Blue Horizons reflects the increasing number of oriental itineraries on offer to British cruise fans. (See Azamara pages 18-19, Regent pages 14-17 and Wendy Wu pages 44-45).

CHINA IN PARTICULAR IS DEVELOPING AS A HUGE SOURCE MARKET FOR CRUISE CUSTOMERS

When I first worked with China as a destination, helping set up China Cruises with the aged "Yao Hua" cargo liner, tourists were still treated with great suspicion. On our first visit to Shanghai we had to anchor offshore in an eerily misty bay awaiting clearance. Alarming a gunboat appeared, and heavily armed soldiers boarded our ship to search thoroughly – although their main concern turned out to be whether the Chinese crew were smuggling Western goods home!

Fortunately international travel is rather easier nowadays, although a touch of excitement does liven up a holiday, and we are still looking for exotic destinations!

YOUR INDIAN GOLDEN TRIANGLE

— Highlights —

★ FULL DAY TOUR OF OLD & NEW DELHI ★

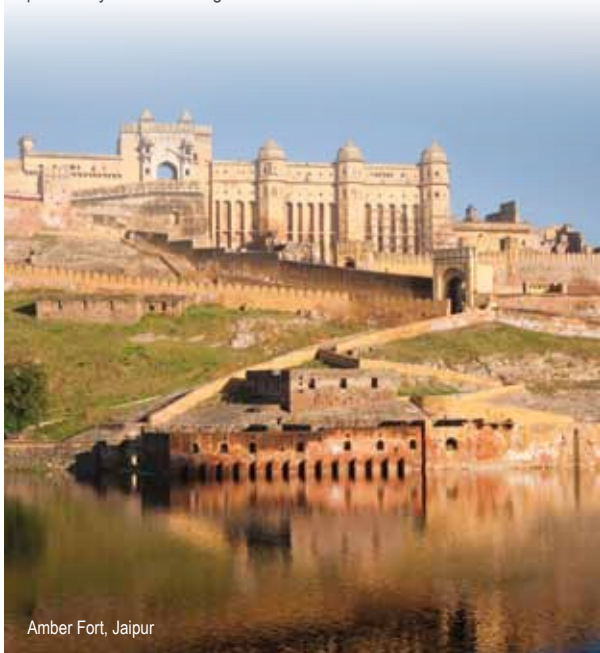

In Old Delhi discover the Jama Masjid, one of the largest mosques in the world. From here you will walk through the Old Delhi bazaar passing the silversmiths' market and, continuing down Chandni Chowk, a bustling bazaar. When the British chose Delhi as their capital in 1911, they appointed two architects, Sir Edwin Lutyens and Sir Herbert Baker, to plan and build a new city to rival the fabled cities of the Mughals. New Delhi was thus built in true colonial style with tree-lined avenues, colonial bungalows, the Parliament House, the War Memorial Arch and the Viceregal Palace, now the official residence of the President of India. During your tour, you will drive past India Gate and the President's Palace and visit the tomb of the Mughal Emperor Humayun, and the pre-Mughal monument Qutb Minar.

★ THE TAJ MAHAL AT SUNSET ★

You will have the once-in-a-lifetime chance to visit the Taj Mahal at sunset. One of the New Seven Wonders of the World, it is ubiquitously recognised as one of the world's greatest landmarks, and finest examples of Mughal architecture. Built as a tribute to his favourite wife, Emperor Shah Jahan said on its creation that it made 'the sun and the moon shed tears from their eyes'. The close-up detail of the Taj Mahal is as exquisite as the overall architectural design, with semi-precious stones and beautiful patterns adorning the marble surface. Not long after it was finished Shah Jahan was overthrown and imprisoned in Agra Fort where, for the rest of his days, he could only gaze out at the Taj Mahal through a window. Following his death in 1666, Shah Jahan was buried here alongside his treasured Mumtaz.

★ TOUR OF AMBER FORT ★

Amber was the capital of the Kachhawa Rajputs from 1037 until Maharaja Sawai Jai Singh founded Jaipur in 1727, but the majestic fort-palace was not begun until about 1600. The building was built by 'Raja Shri Maan Singh Ji Saheb' in the 16th century and later added to by successive Rajput rulers; however, the architecture displays many Mughal influences in addition to the traditional Rajput designs and iconic Hindu elements. Whilst visiting this UNESCO World Heritage Site you will be able to explore the intricate chambers and hallways, the maze of passages, quartet of beautiful courtyards and savour the wonderful views of the Jal Mahal water palace below. Arguably the highlight is the intricately stunning glass detailing of the Sheesh Mahal hall. It's one of India's must see attractions, and offers an experience you'll never forget.

Jane Archer is one of the UK's leading cruise journalists and the Daily Telegraph Travel's cruise expert. She has been sharing her experiences with Blue Horizons' readers for ten years.

Early Central Australia tour

The phrase 'mighty oaks from small acorns grow' might have been written to describe APT, I realise, as Robert McGeary tells me how a tram strike in Melbourne in 1927 – exactly 90 years ago – led to the creation of what has become one of the world's most-respected travel companies.

The strike paralysed the city. In those days few people had cars so no one could get to work. Enter Bill McGeary, Robert's grandfather. He saw an opportunity, turned his truck into a bus and started transporting people to and from work. One bus grew into a fleet of five and a company was born.

In the 1960s, Bill's 19-year-old son Geoff stepped into the driver's seat – literally – and turned the business from a transport firm into the holiday company it is today. "My father started taking Australians on two-week camping trips to Ayres Rock," Robert said. "My mother was the sales rep, handing out flyers to travel agents." Still keeping it very much in the family, Robert is now a director in the company, as is his sister Lou Tandy.

By the 1980s the company had expanded overseas, first to New Zealand and then the US and UK, and was taking Americans and Britons on touring holidays Down Under. Its name changed from Australian Pacific Coaches to Australian Pacific Touring and when European land tours were added in the early 2000s, it was shortened to APT.

The next obvious step was into river cruising, so how fitting that I met Robert on a Rhine cruise. Rather than starting a new company, APT bought into AmaWaterways, a US company founded in 2002 by Rudi Schreiner and Kristen Karst. They were on the cruise with us for the christening of the new AmaKristina, along with Geoff McGeary and other APT execs. It was very special, like being part of one big happy family.

The original idea behind the partnership was for APT to introduce Australians to the wonders of river cruising in Europe. It has certainly done that, but these days you'll find plenty of Brits on its river cruises as well. Indeed, ROL Cruise is one of APT's biggest partners in the UK, selling its river cruises in Europe, India, Asia and even China.

Robert said: "When you cruise on APT's luxury river cruises, you are on an APT sailing that has been tailored to suit the Australians and British. They don't like tipping so we include it. It is high-quality river cruising with everything included in the price and that has really worked in the UK."

When Robert says 'everything' included, he is not exaggerating. Flights, UK and overseas transfers, drinks, Wi-Fi; you don't have to fork out extra for any of it. There is a choice of tours at no extra cost and a wealth of complimentary Signature Experiences that offer something just that little bit more special.

I cruised the Danube with APT earlier this year and enjoyed two Signature Experiences – a Mozart and Strauss concert in the opulent Palais Lichtenstein in Vienna and a journey on a replica imperial train to Salzburg. I'll write more about both in a future issue of Blue Horizons.

Others include Champagne, music and dinner at Nymphenburg Castle, home of Princess Heide von Hohenzollern, for those cruising the Rhine, and dinner at Michelin-starred chef Paul Bocuse's restaurant, L'Abbaye de Collonges, in Lyon for those sailing the Rhône. Choose the Seine and you'll be treated to dinner and cabaret at the world-famous Moulin Rouge in Paris.

In Asia you might be sipping Champagne as the sun rises over Angkor Wat in Siem Reap or as it sets over the famous U-Bein Bridge in Myanmar. New next year, those cruising the Mekong will dine at APT Ambassador Luke Nguyen's restaurant Vietnam House in Ho Chi Minh City.

Meet Luke Nguyen

Celebrity chef Luke Nguyen, APT's Ambassador for the past seven years, is a true inspiration to us all. Charming, passionate, modest and hugely successful.

In 1996, APT launched a sister brand, Travelmarvel, which offers river cruises with slightly less-inclusive prices. I have been lucky enough to do two of these cruises, one on the Mekong in Vietnam and Cambodia, the other on the Ayeyarwady in Myanmar, and both were fantastic (and incidentally are also sold by ROL Cruise, as are Travelmarvel's European cruises).

Having dipped a toe in the water with rivers, APT has grown its cruise portfolio. It charters Ponant ships for cruises in the Australia's remote Kimberley region and owns 45% of Noble Caledonia and 50% of Botanica World Discoveries, an Australian firm specialising in botanical-themed touring holidays and cruises.

Born in a Thai refugee camp to Vietnamese parents who had to flee Saigon at the end of the Vietnam War, he grew up in Australia and opened his first restaurant, Red Lantern, in Surry Hills in Sydney at the age of 23.

He has written numerous cook books, starred in Masterchef Australia and cookery-themed travel programmes that took him around Vietnam, France and the UK, started a cooking school – GRAIN - in Ho Chi Minh City and opened additional restaurants in Brisbane and Hong Kong. In July, he opened Vietnam House, a restaurant in downtown Ho Chi Minh City.

New for 2018, one of APT's Signature Experiences on the Mekong is a dégustation dinner with wines to match at Vietnam House. It's in a 1910-built French colonial-style building with beautiful Asian-influenced décor inside. Best of all, the menu looks fantastic. I know where I'll be going next time I'm in Ho Chi Minh City!

Thai Pumpkin Soup

Ingredients

1½kg Pumpkin or squash, peeled and roughly chopped

4 tsp sunflower oil

1 onion, sliced

1 tbsp grated ginger

1 lemongrass, bashed a little

3-4 tbsp Thai red curry paste

400ml can coconut milk

850ml vegetable stock

Lime juice and sugar, for seasoning

1 red chilli, sliced, to serve (optional)

PREP TIME - 25 mins

COOK TIME - 40 mins

SERVES 6

Method

- Heat oven to 200C/180C fan/gas 6. Toss the pumpkin or squash in a roasting tin with half the oil and seasoning, then roast for 30 mins until golden and tender.
- Meanwhile, put the remaining oil in a pan with the onion, ginger and lemongrass. Gently cook for 8-10 mins until softened. Stir in the curry paste for 1 min, followed by the roasted pumpkin, all but 3 tbsp of the coconut milk and the stock. Bring to a simmer, cook for 5 mins, then fish out the lemongrass.
- Cool for a few mins, then whizz until smooth with a hand blender, or in a large blender in batches. Return to the pan to heat through, seasoning with salt, pepper, lime juice and sugar, if it needs it. Serve drizzled with the remaining coconut milk and scattered with chilli, if you like
