Autumn | Sep–Oct

The Golden Season

Come autumn, shades of yellow, red, orange, and gold paint the forests of the coast, enhanced by the soft sunlight of this period. The first signs of snow begin to settle on the mountain tops and nature's pantry is full of delicacies ready for harvesting. As the days grow shorter, the Northern Lights may also start to creep across the autumnal night sky.

Winter | Nov–Mar

Snow-scapes & Ice-capades

Experiencing an Arctic adventure under the Northern Lights makes your journey all the more magical. With snowfall within the Arctic Circle in winter, the landscape transforms into a pristine white blanket, perfect for a variety of wintry excursions. Some months cast a bewitching prolonged twilight as the sun nestles just beneath the horizon; the so-called 'blue hour'.
